THINGS LOOK BLACK FOR CONVICT CAT ON FRIDAY 13

Taking no chances of allowing extra "bad luck" to be wandering the streets during this ill-fated Friday the 13th, June White carefully confines a black cat for the duration. The "cat prison" which she utilizes was specially constructed for the temporary incarceration of ebony felines whose influence on the affairs of man is widely feared. The only thing is June must have allowed her prisoner to cross her path because typically she had the bad luck to be locked in the prison with the cat. Whatever the outcome June and the convict cat will be released at one minute after midnight, but beware for another Friday the 13th follows in March. (Courier Photo)

Bennett Wins With A Lesson

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett gave the New Democratic opposition a lesson in political tactics in the British Columbia legislature Thursday, then quietly quashed a move that would have banished an NDP member from the House.

Dennis Cooke (NDP — New Westminster), speaking in the budget debate, noticed that a number of Social Credit members had left the chamber, leaving government members in a minority. He promptly moved that debate be adjourned for the day.

The motion, if approved, would have prevented five scheduled speakers from entering the debate and would have disrupted the schedule of business.

The move was blocked by calling for a recorded vote. Division bells rang throughout the legislature buildings, calling members back to their seats. The motion was defeated 36 to 17.

With that issue settled, Premier Bennett called for a vote on acceptance of the budget which he had brought down Friday.

The motion appeared calculated to slap down the Opposition for its adjournment motion. Faced with the threat of having the budget debate curtailed, Opposition benches erupted with cries of "King of B.C." and "you are a dictator."

"And you are not the crown prince," retorted Mr. Bennett, looking directly at Opposition Leader David Barrett.

The ensuing uproar brought a three-minute adjournment, after which deputy speaker Herb Bruch ruled that debate should continue.

The premier, having made his point, didn't question the ruling. Dean Smith (SC—Peace River), next on the speaking order, brought up the proposed rate increases by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, a crown corporation. The deputy speaker promptly called him to order, saying he had ruled previously that the question of hydro rate increases could not be mentioned in the debate.

WORLD NEWS IN A MINUTE

Liver Switched

MONTREAL (CP) — The liver of a 15-day-old infant was transplanted into a three-month-old baby in a 14-hour operation at Notre Dame hospital, it was announced today.

339 Hopeful

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand Marcos has stopped all executions in the national penitentiary until a study on whether to abolish the death penalty is completed. There are 339 prisoners awaiting execution.

Berkeley Blasted

BERKELEY, Calif. (Reuters) — A tight security force surrounded the Berkeley police headquarters today after two powerful explosions in the police parking lot injured two policemen—one seriously—and slightly damaged several buildings.

Family Of 6 Die In Fire

MONTREAL (CP) — A family of six and a fireman perished in a two-alarm fire that swept a two-storey brick house in zero temperatures early this morning in west end St. Henri.

Dea dar Mr. and Mrs. Noel Belanger and their four children Roger, 4, Carol, 2, Lucie, 1 and eight-month-old Francine.

Albert Papadakis, 50, a member of the city fire department, died in hospital of a heart attack after collapsing on the scene of the incident while attempting a rescue.

Police reported that the Belanger family, which moved into the house last October, was trapped on the second floor of the building.

MORE POLLUTION ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A loaded tanker ran aground in Tampa Bay today, damaged its hull and began producing an oil slick which the United States Coast Guard said "is getting bigger all the time."

Coast Guard Lieut. Dana Evans said that at the latest report the slick was 300 yards wide and a half mile long. Efforts were being made to surround it with a styrofoam net.

Provinces 'Anxious' For Phosphate Ban

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister J. J. Greene said today the provinces are anxious to get moving on a ban on use of phosphates in laundry detergents and to discuss the method with him here next week.

"I don't foresee any problems," Mr. Greene said in an interview. "They are anxious that we move."

The federal minister has been holding consultations with provincial ministers on an immediate move against phosphates as an anti-pollution measure.

He said he expects to complete these preliminary discussions today or Saturday.

Pollution is on the agenda of the federal-provincial conference which starts here Monday and Mr. Greene said the question of the phosphate ban "certainly will come up then."

Mr. Greene said he does not want to take unilateral action on the phosphate problem because of the importance of federal-provincial co-operation in implementing the anti-pollution and water management measures in the government's proposed Canada water act.

He informed the Commons resources committee which is studying the water bill that the federal government has no present powers to impose the ban itself.

He had begun consultations on a ban with the provinces and spent part of this week in Western Canada.

The provinces have "no objection at all" to this action, he said.

It appeared that the only thing to be settled was the method of implementing a ban and this may be settled at next week's talks.

The phosphate problems is being treated with urgency because of a recent study for the International Joint Commission which said laundry detergent phosphates getting into sewage dumped into Lakes Erie and Ontario are principally responsible for rapid algae growth and consequent loss of oxygen to support fish and other life.

Lake Case Decision Reserved

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice R. A. Wooten Thursday reserved decision in British Columbia Supreme Court in a test case by renters of beach-front property on Indian reserve land at Okanagan Lake who claim they are exempt from provincial taxation because they are trespassers.

The 600 renters of the summer cabins are on property leased from Indians but not in compliance with the Indian Act. They formed the "Westside Association" with a levy of $5 per member to finance their suit against the attorney-general for a ruling that the Taxation Act and the Public Schools Act do not apply in their cases.

The action was started in the name of Bruno Sammartino, a Vernon builder and "numerous persons having the same interest and questioning the validity of the two acts."

They were represented by lawyer Lawrence Page, who argued that the provincial legislature had no right to tax Indian land, which was under exclusive control of the federal government.

Mr. Page told the judge that the leases negotiated between the Indians and the renters, a consent of the band council, were not in compliance with the Indian Act and that the renters were in effect trespassers with no legal claim against the land.

B.C. Dock Strike Finally Settled With 4th Offer

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's 3,200 longshoremen began returning to the job today and work was expected to be in full swing by noon, following acceptance Thursday night of a fourth contract offer.

Union members voted 55 per cent in favor of the three-year contract offering a $1.15 hourly wage increase on a current base rate of $3.88. The vote was 1,519 to 1,242.

It was the fourth offer from Maritime employers—the second in less than two weeks.

"It was a close vote but I have a feeling the membership will adapt itself to that," said Bob Peebles, Canadian-area president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

"We are all very happy that we have finally agreed on a contract that will benefit the membership and the employers."

Wage and benefit clauses worked out in earlier offers were retained in the newest proposal but new working condition clauses were included to meet continued opposition by a large proportion of union members.

GANG-SIZE IS ISSUE

Gang sizes will be spelled out in the contract until changed by negotiation or arbitration and permanent employees will remain on one job site rather than be transferred around the waterfront.

No shifts will be extended to complete the remainder of a loading or unloading job. Rather, gangs will be transferred to complete the work.

The contract includes a work guarantee of 130 days excluding Sundays, which means that a longshoreman available for work five days out of six will qualify for pay in the event of a work shortage.

It includes a 40-cent hourly increase retroactive to Aug. 1, a guarantee of 26 weeks of work, two additional paid holidays, improved pensions and a retirement settlement of $13,000 to qualifying members at age 65.

Mr. Peebles said he does not believe jobs will be lost because of the contract and the work force will remain about the same.

They Can Retire In Dignity

"I think the contract is a good one," he said. "I think it will allow our pensioners to retire with dignity and that it is one of our members will enjoy working with."

MACKASSEY INTERVENED

Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey, who hastened final negotiations last weekend with a direct threat of government intervention to end the strike, left for Ottawa upon hearing of the settlement.

He made no statement.

The largest local, in Vancouver, voted 864 to 752 in favor of the contract. New Westminster, voted 884 to 752 in favor of the contract. Port Moody opposed it by a vote of 286 to 163.

as did the small Vancouver checkers' local by a vote of 32 to 29.

Dockers in Victoria, Port Alberni, Chemainus and Prince Rupert approved the offer.

Thursday's vote ended a week-long strike which resumed with rejection of the third offer from employers a week ago.

A six-week dock strike was halted in November by a 90-day cooling-off period arranged to work out further agreement.

Government and industry leaders have been unable to determine the cost of the protracted dispute. Shipping sources in Vancouver say some business has been lost to the port of Seattle.

Egyptians Scream Vengeance After 70-Death Israeli Raid

From AP-Reuters

Egyptian planes struck across the Suez canal today and the Israeli military command said one was shot down.

In Cairo, thousands of Egyptians demonstrated, demanding vengeance for the Israeli air raid Thursday that hit a metal plant north of the Egyptian capital, killing 70 workers.

An Israeli spokesman said the Egyptian plane, believed to be a fast Soviet-built Sukhoi 7 fighter-bomber, went down in Egyptian territory near Ismailia, about midway along the canal.

Egyptian jets also attempted to hit three Israeli emplacements on the central and northern sectors of the 103-mile-long waterway, the spokesman said. No Israeli casualties or damage were reported.

By Israeli count, the Egyptians have lost 68 planes in combat since the 1967 war, contrasted with 10 Israeli aircraft. Thousands of Egyptians, carrying large banners and denouncing what they called United States-Israeli collaboration, assembled on the streets of Cairo today.

A confidant of Nasser and editor of the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, Hasanien Heikal, alleged that the U.S., in a series of recent "close co-ordination meetings" with Israeli officials, collaborated in a "100-day blitz plan" to exert maximum pressure on Egypt to oust President Nasser.

He said the U.S. gave the Israelis the go-ahead to use American-built Phantom jets in deep penetration raids against Egypt according to a mutually arranged progressive timetable. The 100 days fixed for the execution of the alleged plan, Heikal said, was the approximate time remaining before the U.S. was scheduled to complete its withdrawal from strategic Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya.

Arab newspapers and radios charged that the U.S. was heavily to blame for the Israeli air raid.

Operation Clean-Up Starts On Oil-Fouled N.S. Shores

ARICHAT, N.S. (CP) — Mopping-up operations along more than 40 miles of oil-fouled shoreline got under way today, 10 days after the source of the pollution, a Liberian tanker, ran aground on a rock off the coast of Chedabucto Bay.

Attempts were being made to burn thick patches of bunker oil gathered in coves and tidal pools along the rocky shoreline.

The main pollution areas are: 15 miles along the north side of Chedabucto Bay, 11 miles on the south side of the bay in the Canso area, five miles in the Cape Auger area near the mouth of the bay and 10 miles along the shore near this Cape Breton community.

The emphasis was on salvage operations until Thursday, when high winds and rough seas pushed the stern section of the broken 11,370-ton tanker Arrow off Cerberus Rock into about 70 feet of water.

With it went about 1,000,000 gallons of oil.

The bow of the tanker has been ground down into the rock, so that only its superstructure and masts show above water. There has been no estimate of the amount of oil still in this section.

LET OUT SLOWLY

James Hornaby of Halifax, a transport department official in charge of the operations here, held the line.

He said the only way the conference will have any effect on inflation will be if Ottawa moves to increase the power of the commission and the provinces agree to pass concurrent legislation.

He said the commission should have control over all price increases, and be able to roll back increases already in effect.

Skiers Flee Val D'Isere

VAL D'ISERE (Reuters) — Hundreds of winter sports enthusiasts poured out of this avalanche-stricken French ski resort today after being awakened well before dawn with news that the road out of town was clear.

A steady stream of buses and several hundred cars moved cautiously down the tortuous mountain road from Val d'Isere. People without transportation thumbed lifts from passing motorists.

The road was opened briefly Thursday for the first time since an avalanche killed 42 persons Tuesday. But it was blocked by a new avalanche and was cleared again during the night.

Richter Warns On Snowmobiles

VICTORIA (CP) — Commercial Transport Minister Frank Richter warned British Columbians Thursday that any marked increase in the incidence of snowmobile accidents could result in legislation "which may severely curtail the pleasure of the public in operation of these vehicles."

Partisanship Charge Open

Gordon Dowling (NDP—Burnaby-Edmonds) questioned the ruling, saying it would leave the speaker open to a charge of partisanship because Premier Bennett had been allowed to refer to Hydra in the budget speech.

The house erupted again with the speaker ordering Mr. Dowling out of the house.

Postal Dispute 'Blackmail'

MONTREAL (CP) — Postmaster-General Eric Klerans said Thursday Montreal's postal dispute is a "blackmail of violence," beginning to cause "serious financial problems" for some companies in the city.

"The present situation clearly proves that there is a genuine need for a drastic change in the mail transportation services in Montreal," Mr. Klerans said in a statement.

He said special security measures had been taken to protect trucks temporarily replacing those of G. Lapalme Inc., whose drivers have been holding rotating strikes for 12 days.

By Thursday morning, the work stoppages had made postal deliveries eight days behind schedule, a post-office spokesman said.

The backlog included 50,000 parcels in sub-stations and 15,000 at the main station. Sixteen truckloads of mail were also waiting to be emptied.

COURT ACTION BEGUN

He Wants To Own Port Moody

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dan Mills of Vancouver Thursday started a British Columbia Supreme Court action to take over the suburban city of Port Moody.

He filed his own writ seeking "the total assets of the city of Port Moody, including land, money, equipment and all things belonging to the city which are liquidable."

He said in documents filed with the court he is taking the action because "the city, with the consent of its taxpayers and voters, did not an act to acquire the total assets of the plaintiff against his will and in a tyrannical and undemocratic way."

Mr. Mills seeks a court order which would amalgamate with neighboring Burnaby "the leftover streets, overpasses, water works, sewer systems and government jurisdiction of the City of Port Moody."

He said he is the owner of two lots in downtown Port Moody and claims he has 19 packages of material evidence to prove his claim.

"Haven't you heard of voluntary restraint?"

Minister Wants To See Gulf Of Georgia 'Park'

The Gulf of Georgia, between Vancouver Island and the British Columbia mainland should be made a national underwater park, Jack Davis, federal minister of fisheries and forestry said Thursday in North Vancouver. Speaking to a Liberal workshop on pollution, Mr. Davis said "All of the bottom below low water should become a national asset." "It should be proclaimed a reserve in turn should be kept in its present state for all of the people of Canada," he said. "I am opposed to the drilling for oil in the Gulf of Georgia and I am still opposed to industrial activity there."

President Rafael Caldera of Venezuela said Thursday his government has evidence Cuba is backing off from its policy of interfering in internal affairs of Latin American countries. He told reporters, however, that any re-entry of Cuba into the "hemispheric community" must be based on a multilateral decision.

After five months, the marathon trial in Chicago of seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the Democratic national convention in 1968 is headed for the jury. William Kunstler, a defence lawyer, was to conclude his final argument today, followed by Thomas Foran, the U.S. district attorney, who has been allotted two hours for rebuttal. After that it remains for Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. district court to instruct the jury of 10 women and two men and have them locked up to deliberate.

First-degree murder charges were filed Thursday against Annette Gilly in the slayings of United Mineworkers Union leader Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter, Washington, Pa. County officials said. Similar charges already have been brought against her husband, Paul, 36, Aubrey W. Martin, 21, and Claude E. Vealey, 26, all of Cleveland, Ohio. All four have also been indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland, Ohio, for conspiring in a six-month plot to kill the 59-year-old union leader.

The British Columbia Motor Vehicles branch is considering a driver's licence bearing the owner's photo, Stan Jackson, B.C.'s deputy superintendent of motor vehicles said in North Vancouver. He told a North Shore Safety Council that sample cards have already been made but no decision has been reached.

U.S. District Court Judge Stanley Wiegler issued a bench warrant Thursday in San Francisco for Nick George Olah, 21, Hungarian-born Canadian after he failed to appear for trial on charges of refusal to report for military induction. Wiegler ordered forfeit of Olah's $1,000 bond and set new bail at $10,000. Assistant U.S. Attorney Steel Langford told the court that Olah's lawyer and other sources indicated Olah fled to Canada last month and did not intend to return.

Prince Phillip, en route to Mexico for polo matches, arrived in Ottawa Thursday for an overnight stay with Governor-General and Mrs. Roland Michener. The prince arrived at Uplands airport in near-zero temperatures to be greeted by the Governor-General who asked the duke to ignore the "gentle north wind." No formal functions are planned for Prince Phillip, husband of the Queen, while in Ottawa. He was scheduled to leave at 10 a.m. today to fly to Cape Kennedy where he is to visit the U.S. space centre.

In Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, State Secretary William P. Rogers of the U.S. paid a call on the Organization of African Unity Thursday and was welcomed by Secretary-General Diallo Telli with a speech demanding U.S. help to liquidate white supremacy regimes in southern Africa. Rogers replied by reminding him that the United States liquidated its own colonial status by its own efforts and unity.

Benson's Anti-Inflation Policy Savaged As Heartless, Ruthless

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson heard his anti-inflation policies savaged as heartless, ruthless, inhuman and wrongful in the Commons Thursday.

David Lewis, New Democrat deputy leader, said the government has deliberately created unemployment in an unsuccessful effort to combat inflation.

"There has been no effect of that policy on the price level in this country," Mr. Lewis said as he introduced a motion calling for a turn-about in economic policy.

"Prices have been steadily going up and the rate of increase has hardly been affected by this ruthless and inhuman policy of the government."

In the meantime, the national unemployment figure had hit six per cent and may now be 6.5 per cent, just as Prime Minister Trudeau said in December that it might be 5 per cent.

"But altogether more disturbing... is that there is no indication the government is ready to call a halt to this continuing descent into recession for the people of Canada," Mr. Lewis said.

Mr. Lewis dismissed the agreement on price restraints reached earlier this week by business leaders and the prices and incomes commission at a two-day meeting in Ottawa.

"The agreement was nothing more than a declaration of profit maintenance with business merely saying it would not put up prices if profits remained at their 1969 level."

As for the banks who have agreed not to increase service charges, he claimed the service charges were already usurious, immoral and gouging.

Such agreements were not going to roll back the cost of living.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield hesitated to accept the remedy proposed by the New Democrat: "a genuine price control policy with teeth."

That would lead to a thoroughly planned economy, he cautioned. "That is not the policy I support."

Printing of the evening Sun ran late Thursday and finished up with 110,000 copies out of a normal press run of 260,000. A company spokesman said the company was "improved over Wednesday," when only 62,000 copies were printed.

The Thursday morning Province finished its run of 133,000 copies five hours late.

The three unions, along with the Vancouver-New Westminster Newspaper Guild and the stereotypers' union, have been involved in a contract dispute with Pacific Press since contracts ran out Oct. 31.

The company sought the injunctions with the argument that disruptive slowdowns were deliberate and were costing Pacific Press up to $100,000 a day in lost revenue.

In their appeal notices, the unions said there was no evidence to support the granting of the injunction and that the injunction did not spell out what action the unions must take.

They also said the trial judge erred in holding that the actions of union members probably constituted an illegal strike.

Mr. Guy said his union was trying to comply with the injunction "but we are concerned that no matter what we do we may be unable to satisfy Pacific Press and we will be in danger of being held in contempt of court."

Three of the unions Thursday passed strike votes, bringing to five the number of unions voting for a strike.

No strike notice has been served on the company and Mr. Guy said any statement about strike notice would be made by the Joint Council of Newspaper Unions, representing the five groups.

The latest votes were by the stereotypers, 89 per cent in favor, the typographers, 90 per cent, and the pressmen 98 per cent.

The mailers approved strike action Wednesday, following a November vote by the guild. Negotiators reached tentative agreement on wages before talks broke off in Vancouver but did not resolve such issues as pensions, vacations, night differential and length of contract.

The company offered an 82-cent hourly increase of 25 months to all mechanical unions, which would give printers and pressmen $5.35 an hour and mailers $5.05.

Dock Pilferage Costs Fortune

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of theft and pilferage on U.S. docks is running into the tens of millions of dollars a year and adding to the price consumers pay for many imported products.

"It's accepted by all on the docks," says Richard Maxwell, chairman of the transportation committee for the American Importers Association.

"Pilferage is something of a fringe benefit, to some longshoremen," comments Gregory W. Halpin, deputy director of the Maryland Port Authority.

Officials of dockworkers unions say they do everything possible to keep pilferage to a minimum. They point out that under contract terms a longshoreman can lose his job "with the theft of a 10-cent article."

Said one union official in Seattle: "We're rougher than any court, federal or local, on a longshoreman caught stealing."

Importers, who own the goods that are stolen, feel the brunt of the financial loss. They seldom complain out loud, however.

"There are two primary reasons you don't get backing from importers," said Maxwell.

"They fear retaliation from dockworkers and an increase in their insurance premiums"—and maybe of being dropped as an account by an insurance company if losses are continually reported.

It is this failure to report stolen items that makes it difficult to determine the exact dollar loss annually through pilferage and theft.

The American Institute of Marine Underwriters estimated that in 1968 theft and pilferage in international commerce cost U.S. industry $59,000,000 and has been growing each year.

Spokesmen for most agencies in the shipping industry, however, think that the $59,000,000 figure represents only the value of goods actually reported stolen—a small part of the actual losses through theft and pilferage.

To cut the losses he incurs, an importer may add to the price of an item, thus making the ultimate consumer help pay for the thievery.

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Five hundred young Americans, bound for sugar fields in Cuba, were to sail from here today aboard the freighter Luis Arcos Bergmes.

The group, which assembled in Boston from points across the United States, arrived Thursday by chartered buses as the freighter docked with a similar group of more than 200 returning to the U.S. from a two-month sugar cane harvesting expedition in Cuba.

For much of the day the two groups milled about uncomfortably in raw weather at the vessel's pier 14 berth as departure arrangements were made for both.

WRAPS COME OFF BANK OF B.C.

A new page in the history of Bernard Avenue and Water Street will be written soon with the opening of the new Bank of B.C. building which took over quarters formerly occupied by Woolworth's Store. The site, which has seen many business establishments, was turned over to the bank in July and renovations have been under way since. Last week, boarding around the building came down exposing the attractive modern lines of the structure enhancing Kelowna's main street. The bank is the first in the interior for the Bank of B.C. which has been operating almost two years now and has started another branch in Nanaimo. The opening will bring to nine the number of chartered banks in Kelowna. (Courier photo)

Phosphates Big Issue At Water Board Talks

A minor agenda item at the regular meeting of the Okanagan Basin Water Board Thursday turned into a verbal free-for-all of pollution, pulp mills and water quality standards. Even the currently topical phosphate problem got discussion on a cue from Penticton Mayor F. D. Stuart relating to a 1968 Okanagan water quality monitoring program.

Referring to the provincial study of Skaha and Osoyoos Lakes, Mayor Stuart said his engineers had established a phosphate count of 260 pounds per day, and not the 906 pounds per day cited by the survey. The study sample had been taken from a downstream outfall, he said, and did not represent a true condition of the water.

He added the phosphate count of 260 was "four times as accurate" as that taken for the study conducted by Dr. J. R. L. Coulthard and Dr. J. R. Stein. The new figure had been brought to the attention of Dr. Coulthard, said Mayor Stuart.

From that point, it was anybody's bar of soap and discussion soon lapsed into deeper pollution problems. Mayor Stuart described the removal of phosphates as "difficult" but that lime treatment had proven the most effective in neutralizing its polluting character since it was turned into an insoluble. The resulting sludge could then be calcinated to remove the lime.

ENFORCE LAWS
Legislative action against use of phosphates in detergents was mentioned by Philip Farmer, chairman of the South Okanagan Regional District.

The federal government doesn't seem to think it can enforce it, said D. A. Pritchard of the Regional District of Central Okanagan. "I think it can. That's what we're here for, to recommend legislation of this kind."

Basin board chairman W. C. Bennett wasn't sure. He said the federal government couldn't enforce phosphate legislation by itself, and needed "provincial help."

The board should consider passing a bylaw banning phosphates under the "public nuisance" portion of the municipal act. Recently published listings of offending detergent manufacturing companies was "unheard of" a few years back, said Mr. Pritchard. "We're looking at 48 and 52 per cent phosphate-containing products," he reminded, warning that the board should "keep the pressure up."

CONGRATULATIONS
Discussion almost came to a standstill with an approved motion by Mr. Stuart that the board send a congratulatory letter to Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, on his recently-announced award of $250,000 for an effective device to eliminate pulp mill odors. The motion also included urgent support of a phosphate control bill at the next session of parliament.

"It's all very well to pass a bylaw, but is it legal?" chairman Bennett picked up the discussion again.

"It's law until the courts say it's not," commented Mayor Stuart, adding it was "worth taking to court to find out."

If municipalities could ban firecrackers, it could "put some teeth" into phosphate legislation, said Mr. Pritchard. Outside of the public nuisance clause, there was nothing in the municipal act to support such legislation, said Mayor Stuart.

PULP MILL ODOR
The board should also scrutinize pulp mill odor effects on fruit, suggested chairman Bennett, who thought the subject should be studied by the technical committee. The study should not be restricted to the fruit industry, one board member felt. Another type of fruit-growing headache in the form of lime deposits was described by Mr. Farmer as a "serious problem."

He said water sprayed on trees from river sources evaporated to leave fruit encrusted with lime which was "tough to get out" and prohibited growth. Any proposed study should also involve that aspect of pollution.

Enderby representative Len Bawtree, thought a pollution study of the Shuswap undertaken by the health department should be pursued. Nothing could be done in the way of pollution control until "we determine what pollution is," he said.

The board should also, he added, "work on some water standards" as a means of preventing unwanted industries. Discussion also covered air pollution, with particular relevance to pulp mills.

Taking a philosophical view, Mr. Stuart observed that pulp mills that "smelled like roses would be as offensive as sulphur dioxide."

City Lauded For Decision

Kelowna's decision to move directly to the city administrator system of government has been welcomed by the chamber of commerce.

"We've been agitating for this for years," said past president Gordon Hirtle at Thursday's chamber executive meeting.

The "old chestnut" has been a chamber project for at least two years—to encourage Kelowna to adopt a city manager or administrator system.

The decision was made public Thursday by Mayor Hilbert Roth, who said the detailed report of the city's consultants on the matter will be made public Monday. D. B. Herbert, present city controller, was named the new city administrator.

The chamber will send letters of congratulations both to Mr. Herbert and to the mayor and council.

This Blow Cost $100

A back-hand slap to the face following an argument about driving cost a Kelowna man $100 when he appeared in provincial court today.

Robert Frederick Driscoll pleaded guilty to a charge of common assault laid after an incident on Harvey Avenue Jan. 15.

Police said Driscoll struck Robert Little, Kelowna, while he was sitting in his car parked at the side of the road.

Driscoll told Judge D. M. White he had struck Little during an argument about a near collision which he blamed on Little. He added he "had a scare" and was not thinking clearly.

Judge White said no matter what the reason he had no right to strike anyone.

Adolf Michaels, of no fixed address, was sentenced to three months when he pleaded guilty today to a charge of vagrancy. Judge White said the sentence was imposed for Michaels' welfare and not as punishment.

Some Can't Pay Chamber Dues

Increased membership fees may find the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce losing some of its largest corporate members—national companies.

In recent weeks at least three major firms have told the chamber they may not be able to gain approval for the increased fees from their head offices.

This includes several bank branches and at least one industry. The chamber in January increased its membership fees across the board, and national firms, often with more employees than local businesses, have come in for some of the biggest increases.

One example is a local department store which had its annual chamber dues increased from $96 per year to $120. Chamber manager W. J. Stevenson said Thursday this firm has given a "flat refusal" to pay more dues.

One bank branch has found its dues increased by 500 per cent. The chamber, however, decided not to give in and reduce the fees again, pointing out that the money is needed to keep the organization solvent.

"I would suggest a diplomatic letter to the head offices of these firms pointing out that there has been no other increase in five years," said director C. R. Johnston.

A. S. Walls said, "Most of the increase goes to the visitor and convention bureau anyway, and these firms get a lot of benefit from that." The directors decided to write to the firms that have refused to pay the increase explaining the situation.

Another problem for some branches is that their annual budgets have been set already leaving no margin for fee increases.

In other business the chamber decided to give all the help they could to the Kelowna Kinsmen, who are ready to launch their major fund drive for a swimming pool for the city.

The Kinsmen wrote the chamber asking for help with the pool campaign—either financial or through the work of chamber members. They also requested an opportunity to show a promotional presentation to the chamber members.

The presentation has been tentatively set for a luncheon meeting in mid-March. After earlier searching for topics for general meetings, the directors now seem to have a surplus of speakers and subjects.

A luncheon March 4 will feature a discussion on the recent federal white paper on taxation. A week later, March 11, the chamber directors hope to meet for dinner with the city council members to discuss municipal problems and projects.

Tentatively set for March 25 is a luncheon meeting with an executive member of B.C. Air Lines.

Industrial Development Role For City Or District?, C Of C Asks

Afraid that industrial commissioner B. L. Means may be without a job in a month, the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce will request to meet in committee Monday with city council to discover if anyone will take on the responsibility for the role.

The chamber two months ago hired Mr. Means on a temporary basis hoping either the city or the regional district would be responsible for his salary on a permanent basis. The council claims industrial promotion is clearly a regional function, and the regional district has yet to take a stand—it has asked the city to make a "formal" request that it take on the function. Mr. Means' term on the chamber payroll ends in one month.

The directors gave careful approval to including in their next bulletin a notice of a film on the Vietnam war to be shown Feb. 18. Sponsored by the local Voice of Women organization, the film is a commentary by an American war correspondent addressed to businessmen. The chamber was careful to point out it recommended the film "without bias."

Chamber membership was granted to Alcan Building Products Ltd., a recent arrival to the Kelowna area.

A letter from Noca Dairies Ltd. told the chamber the firm has managed to convince one Vernon supermarket to give more shelf space to its products and hopes to do the same in Kelowna and Penticton. The dairy wrote earlier angry at having Fraser Valley dairy products selling in the Okanagan.

Director D. J. Bremner urged the chamber to continue work on a public information campaign concerning the shortage of school buildings and classrooms. Last week, the chamber listened to Fred Macklin, secretary-treasurer for school district 23 (Kelowna) outline classroom shortage problems and decided to write a resolution on the matter for discussion by the provincial chamber, and eventual lobbying of the provincial government. At present the chamber is seeking more information.

Funeral Friday For W. G. Povey

Funeral services will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance, Friday at 2:30 p.m. for William George Povey 68, of Kelowna, who died Tuesday.

Surviving Mr. Povey are: his wife Gladys; one son William of Lethbridge, Alta.; and three daughters, Mrs. H. H. (Alma) Hill of Penticton, Mrs. W. (Wynette) Dunlop of Winnipeg and Mrs. Bert (Lois) Smith of Kelowna. Two brothers, Maurice and Edgar, both of Nanaimo, as well as eight grandchildren, also survive.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. R. E. F. Berry with burial in Kelowna cemetery.

SOME BOARDS GET CASH

Trustees Upset No Gov't Word

Mass resignation, mass meetings and protest delegations to Victoria have been suggested by School District 23 trustees to get answers about school construction delays.

A telegram "couched in the strongest terms" will be sent to Premier W. A. C. Bennett in his capacity as South Okanagan MLA to protest the failure of government to let the board "know where it stands."

The issue flared at the regular meeting of the board Thursday spurred by an announcement from Education Minister Donald Brewster that the government moratorium on construction referendum would be partially lifted.

Eleven small school boards will be allowed to present referendums to the public. No mention was made of District 23.

AGAINST THE WALL

"We have been up against the wall in this district for years," said Trustee T. R. Carter, chairman of the building committee, "if a release is going to be made we have a right to know what is going on."

Trustee Carter said the board had "bent over backwards" to supply figures to Victoria pertaining to District 23 classroom needs.

He chose as example working drawings for KLO Secondary School which have been in department of education hands for five months.

"We should make a vigorous protest—maybe we are going to be told tomorrow but we should have been told today," he said.

NO PLANS

Trustees agreed some policy must be adopted to deal with the situation if the government does not soon send confirmation or denial of the board's estimates of needs. Fred Macklin, board secretary-treasurer, said he and school administrator Frank Orme were usually planning for September at this time of year but could not do so without knowledge of what finances are forthcoming.

Trustee Dr. C. B. Henderson said the problem was the most serious he had encountered in his years on the board.

"A close friend of mine suggested we should all resign in protest—and maybe we should," Dr. Henderson said.

"I'm not saying that we should but we have to take some action."

Dr. Henderson said he hoped protest would come from the "grass roots" but now felt it was time trustees took the lead to stimulate the public.

PUBLIC AWARE

Newcomer to the board, Trustee Mrs. Janet Harland, expressed the belief the public was becoming more aware of the situation and realized delays in construction were not the fault of the board.

She suggested Premier Bennett be invited to meet with the board and tell them what was causing delays in school financing.

In lieu of the premier, trustees agreed to meet with the minister of education.

Board Chairman J. W. Maddock said as long as there were no answers from Victoria the position of school trustees was "becoming absolutely untenable."

Until the board knew what its financial situation was it could not fulfill its function except in the field of routine work, he said.

"The government just cannot ignore the situation the bigger boards are in," he said.

Superintendent Orme added weight to the trustees' argument with figures showing elementary registration in District 23 had increased by 54 students and secondary enrolment, which usually drops after Christmas, had increased by three.

WANT ANSWERS

The board agreed the telegram to the premier should point out it is speaking on behalf of its constituents who are aroused about the over-crowding situation.

Mr. Macklin said the telegram would give the government an opportunity to provide answers before the board made any attempts at other action. If the answers were not received then alternative solutions, such as public meetings and delegations, would be investigated.

Trustees made no decision on what further would be done although all agreed the problem was critical.

"I can assure the board," chairman Maddock said, "that I have looked very thoroughly at the situation and we have no problem that money can't solve."

BOARD BRIEFS

Electrical Failure, Water Change Bring Unplanned School Costs

The school district 23 board of trustees learned Thursday two unexpected developments in district schools were going to cost them money.

Board secretary-treasurer Fred Macklin said an agreement reached with Peachland regarding a water service to Peachland Elementary School, under construction, was worthless now because of a municipal bylaw.

Municipal representatives agreed the municipality would pay to bring the water line to our property but later learned a bylaw exists which says the cost of installation of water lines must be borne by the builder," he said.

The board agreed to split the $1,800 cost of bringing in the water main between itself, the municipality and a subdivider who will also be using the line.

Overlooked circuits at Matheson Elementary will cost the board $3,000 to $4,000, the board also learned.

A 300 amp system at the school has proved inadequate for demands and fuses are "continually blowing."

The board agreed to install a new circuit during the Easter holiday.

In other board business trustees: Received a copy of a letter sent by the George Pringle student council to the department of highways requesting sidewalks be installed in Westbank. Students on the road during lunch hour, after and before school, have been termed a traffic hazard by police and school officials.

Approved funds to build additional shelves and purchase a library cart for South Rutland Elementary. The library is being used as a classroom due to overcrowding.

Heard 91 elementary and 38 secondary student teachers would be in the district soon. Twenty-five are former district students.

Agreed to supply buses for field trips to free performances of the Central Washington University singers Feb. 27 and the Naden Band, March 12.

Changed regulations which require a half-hour early dismissal for Grade 1 students up to Feb. 1. Due to busing problems created in some schools dismissal time will be at the discretion of staff.

Applied to Victoria for an order in council giving a construction firm an easement to install underground utility services around a proposed school site in Rutland.

Heard the B.C. School Trustees Association had for the first time a full-time representative in the legislature during the last session and reports were expected soon.

Accepted the low tender of Victory Motors of $4,702 for a new maintenance truck. The tender was one of five received.

Gave permission for one principal from the district to attend a principals' conference July 13-18. The principal will be selected at a later date.

Approved a bylaw allowing the provincial government to sell $400,000 in referendum debentures on their behalf.

Ogopogo Topic Of 'White Paper' As Chamber Seeks Evidence

A concentrated "search" for Ogopogo is planned by the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce.

And if the chamber can gather enough information about the friendly Okanagan Lake monster a "white paper" will be prepared.

A statement presented to the chamber's executive meeting Thursday afternoon by Frank Addison said:

"A group of local citizens is interested in acquiring as much data as possible on our friendly water 'beastie'—commonly known as Ogopogo.

"Interest has been aroused with the recent showing of movies taken by Art Falden of Chaco and it is felt there are many other instances of sightings that have gone unreported, probably because people thought they might be ridiculed."

The immediate objective of the group is to ask anyone who has ever made a sighting—or thinks they have—to drop a note to Ogopogo, Box 308, Kelowna, giving the details as accurately as possible. Important information would include:

- Approximate date of sighting
- Area of lake where sighting made
- Weather conditions at time (clear, cloudy, wind direction)
- Condition of lake (rough or calm)
- Behaviour of Ogo and direction of travel
- Witnesses to sighting
- Photographs—most welcome.

"It is requested all letters be signed and include address and phone number, in case the committee wishes further information names will not be made public without writer's permission."

"It is hoped enough information will be gathered, to enable an assessment to be made of Ogopogo's habits, to see if there are any common denominators such as lake area and time of year. When sufficient information has been gathered—the results will be released in a 'White Paper'."

"The committee, which will operate as a sub-committee of the visitor and convention committee of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, feels a great deal of interest can be created which will benefit the community. However, to be successful, the support of all people in the area is essential."

"The committee has already discussed many suggestions—from Ogopogo excursion to an Ogopogo Society to a liaison with the Loch Ness Society—and many more."

The one-minute color film of "something in the lake" was shown to about two dozen people Feb. 4 at a press conference organized by the chamber. The film quality was not good, but definitely showed something in the lake south of the home of Ogopogo viewpoint.

Whatever was in the movie surfaced and submerged three times and moved at speeds varying from slow to fairly quickly, for an object of its size, at least 50 feet long.

If nothing else the film touched off renewed interest in Ogopogo.

There is no record of how many sightings have been made in recent years, since many people who see something don't report their sighting for fear of being ridiculed.

There were two reported sightings in the Kelowna area in 1969; six in 1967 and two in each of the past two years.

SEEN and HEARD

According to a reader of the Courier who has a husband retired from Air Canada and a son still employed by the company, a Canadian Press story on page 4 of the Feb. 11 Courier was in error. The Canadian Press story said passengers sit nine abreast in the first class section of Boeing's new 747 jetliner. This should have read in the economy section. The first class section accommodates 32 passengers.

The "one-eyed monster" situation appears to be improving on city and district streets and roads, with fewer cars seen recently with only one headlight. City council and automotive retailers have been campaigning for the past two years to have drivers check their lights, or have the check made by service station attendants. Although the campaign has improved the situation, there are still some vehicles with only one headlight, or one tail light and some with no brake lights.

Tonight's the night for eight Rutland girls to take their chances at the judging of Miss Sweetheart of Rutland Teen Town. The entrants are Andrea Drinkwater, Mary Allan, Sarina S. Ndana, Sue Leubetter, Erin-Faye Nelson, Sandra Hamm, Elaine Huber and Kathy Chiba. The winner will be selected at a dance tonight in Centennial Hall.

CLLOUDY weather with mild temperatures is forecast for Saturday. The snow earlier today should be cleared by rain, which is expected later in the day. Saturday's winds should be light, and temperatures are forecast at 35 and 32. Thursday's temperatures were 34 and 31 with five-eighths of an inch of snowfall.

Crash Brings Minor Injury

A Kelowna woman was taken to hospital but treated as an outpatient and released after a two-car crash at Harvey Avenue and Ethel Street about 2:10 p.m. Thursday.

Anne Kuly was a passenger in a car driven by Marie Tinning, Kelowna, when it was involved in a collision with a vehicle driven by John Armstrong, Kelowna.

Police said there was an estimated $1,000 damage in the mishap. In other police activity three stolen tape decks were recovered Thursday when three youths were arrested after a report from a Kelowna resident. RCMP said inquiries about the youths are continuing with the assistance of a probation officer.

UNICEF's Work Gleams From Horror In Biafra

The Nigerian civil war — as Prime Minister Gowon prefers to call it — is fading back into history. But the troubles and chaos left by that terrible conflict over the secession of Biafra linger on like some ghastly funeral theme.

The one bright light gleaming through the sorry gloom of hunger and deprivation, is that the rest of the world has taken some steps to alleviate suffering in that sad land.

The world body, UNICEF has been speeding supplies both of food and medicine to help restore a degree of normalcy. The Canadian branch of that organization has been playing its part with undiminished vigor.

Before the conflict, UNICEF had been assisting Nigeria with programs for the control of leprosy, yaws and kwashiorkor, in the development of rural health services, expanding education facilities and the supply of food. This aid began in 1954.

Between 1962 and 1968, a total of over $2.5 million was spent by UNICEF on these programs, with matching funds from the Nigerian Government.

These regular programs are continuing in the areas of Nigeria away from the war zone.

At the start of the emergency in January, 1966, the situation worsened throughout that year until July, 1967, when fighting started.

The state of unrest, even before the fighting, exacerbated a situation in which some diseases, particularly kwashiorkor, were already endemic. Deaths increased sharply through famine and disease as well as through riots, hostage killings and ultimately war.

Famine and disease became increasingly severe in the eastern region known as Biafra, as war constantly narrowed the territory, cut off lines of supply and caused inevitable disruptions in administration.

UNICEF's emergency assistance began with the delivery of food and drugs to both sides of the fighting line in January, 1968. Further supplies were sent in April and May. In July, 1968 an appeal was made by UNICEF for cash contributions to support the work, and 5,000 tons of children's foods were diverted to the area by UNICEF. This was the first large relief shipment made to Nigeria.

In the months following, UNICEF continued to organize and deliver supplies and assistance to both sides of the fighting line. These included high protein foods, drugs and other medical supplies; and child feeding advisers and volunteers who helped with distribution were also provided.

UNICEF also provided a helicopter lift for supplying food to areas of Nigeria inaccessible by other means.

Most of these supplies to both sides were initially carried by the International Committee of the Red Cross and when they discontinued their flights, other channels were found to maintain the shipment of goods.

The substantial provision of children's foods was made possible chiefly by donations from several governments.

By December, 1969, UNICEF had arranged for total shipments of 50,000 tons of supplies of food, drugs and vehicles, as well as arranging helicopter charters and paying freight, personnel and operating expenses.

Inevitably, the extent of the assistance required was far beyond the scope of UNICEF's normal resources and in July, 1968, an appeal was made by UNICEF to support their work. Contributions from private sources through National Committees and from governments have totalled $3.4 million. UNICEF also had arranged shipment of contributed goods to the value of $20 million.

With the ceasefire in January, UNICEF announced a new appeal for funds for emergency relief and for subsequent rehabilitation work.

In announcing the Canadian UNICEF appeal, the national chairman of the Canadian UNICEF Committee, Mme. Marguerite L. Lamothé, said "the need is still urgent and we are immediately launching an appeal... to enable us to maintain and expand the specialist aid which we are qualified to give and which is so desperately needed in both the emergency and the subsequent rehabilitation program."

In response to UNICEF's appeal, Mitchell Sharp, Canada's External Affairs Minister announced the contribution of $200,000 to UNICEF to support its increased program and the Canadian Ambassador to the United Nations expressed Canada's admiration "for UNICEF in all its endeavors."

On the same day, the Nigerian Ambassador to the United Nations paid tribute to the work of UNICEF and praised its "good and altruistic humanitarian work."

This work, done on behalf of the rest of the world, is therefore helping to rectify, in some measure, the inhumanity inflicted by man upon man.

Fight Against Inflation Now Entering New Phase

From FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA—The fight against inflation appears to be entering a new phase. Up to now it's been a battle of words. Governments have been talking to everyone, asking them to hold the line, but not doing too much on their own.

Employers have been trying to persuade unions to be moderate in their demands for wage increases while their own profits were rising. They could argue the bigger profits were due, not to higher prices, but to greater efficiency, greater volume and general growth.

Generally the arguments didn't convince unions whose members faced higher living costs. Things were so good employers couldn't risk costly strikes so labor usually got what it wanted with the inevitable result—escalation in prices to consumers, including the production workers who benefited from higher wages.

FAILED LAST YEAR

The Trudeau Government's Prices and Incomes Commission failed in its first major effort at restraint last year. It called on industry and labor to forego or restrain increases in prices and wages for the duration of the inflationary period. Industry made a few co-operative noises but the big labor unions were unco-operative.

This week the commission has assembled a National Conference on Price Stability to capitalize on the favorable response received from business last year. Its job is to try to develop specific criteria for business pricing policies during 1970 which, if widely observed, will result in fewer and smaller increases than might otherwise occur.

Business is being asked, in the interests of long-term stability, to accept a lower scale of profits during 1970 and to refrain from passing on to the consumer all of the cost increases which stem from higher wages and higher material prices.

Even if the conference agrees on this nothing like price controls are contemplated. As of now, of course, price controls are beyond the powers of the federal government and its agencies in peacetime and there is no present thought of changing the situation.

It is, therefore, likely that the commission will look to big business for a good deal more co-operation than it may expect from small business and that, it may be prepared to castigate and mobilize public opinion against larger businesses which fail to co-operate.

PRICING POLICIES

A pre-conference statement from the commission promises "special attention to the pricing policies of major firms which tend to be price leaders in their particular industry." It also warns that it will "be examining major price decisions in most important industries and that it will be fair but exacting in its judgments of what constitutes reasonable compliance."

The small businessman probably doesn't need to worry about all this. He'll still have to fix his prices so that they are competitive with those of the big merchandizer who is his major competitor. The big merchandizer, however, has only a vague clue as to what kind of price increase will escape denunciation.

This is that the price increase better not be more than, and if possible, should be less than the actual increase in the seller's own costs.

NO RELAXATION

It says there should be no relaxation of current monetary and fiscal policy until it results in a slow down of price increases. It calls on the Prices and Incomes Commission to report on the appropriateness of wage demands made by unions in the coming months. It also suggests "any restrictions on wage demands made by unions in the coming months. It also suggests that any restrictions on wages, prices or profits, voluntary or otherwise, be matched by similar limitations on professional fees, service fees and dividends."

The committee thinks monetary policy as exercised by the federal government is too limited and indirect. It suggests the Bank of Canada be given power to control the operations of non-bank financial institutions in order to restrain their interest rate-fixing powers. It regrets the lack of any federal control over consumer credit.

None of these views have much reference to the present crisis. It's another case of generals planning on how to fight the last war. The present crisis, however, if it is not resolved soon may well prompt public opinion to demand more powers for the central government to deal with future problems of either inflation or deflation than it now possesses.

BIBLE BRIEF

"And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; there where I am, there ye may be also." John 14:3.

Christ will come back and only Christians will rise to meet Him. "Be ye also ready for in such an hour as ye think not the son of man cometh."

NEWS ANALYSIS

Humans Thrive On Survival Wars

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Arabs might not bomb Israeli cities for fear of reprisals: the U.S. has declared that falling other better arrangements, it will let Israel have sufficient warplanes for self protection. But the Arabs believe they can wear down Israel by keeping up a constant threat on the frontiers and by continuous commando hit and run raids.

Far from wearing Israel down, such tactics might prove to be a strong incentive for the Israelis to continue growing stronger. In both wars, productivity went up in every belligerent. Even at the height of the British and American bombing raids, the Germans were raising their production and their productivity so impressively that U.S. manufacturers made a careful study of German wartime management techniques after the fighting ended.

The same, of course, is true of Britain and Japan. Even the countries that were not under fire, the U.S. and Canada, for instance, scored impressive advances in both productivity and production. Despite the essentially inflationary nature of war spending—in which much money is paid for the production of non-goods, such as artillery shells destined to be disintegrated by belligerent countries had impressive records of industrial peace.

These economic conditions that appear almost miraculous these days were less the result of controls than of patriotism, and nothing boasts patriotism so much as a fight for survival. Israel is engaged in a fight for survival whereas the Arabs are not.

WARS FOR GENERATIONS

So we can take it for granted that Israel has all the necessary spirit for a long drawn-out war effort. Other nations have fought for a century or more against just the sort of raids Israel is subjected to. Vietnam fought China for one thousand years. The Cretans fought for 600 years. The Jews fought successive occupiers unrelentingly for generations until Rome decided to uproot them totally, and the Arabs are not Rome.

If the spirit is there, it is possible for Israel to do more of what it is doing now. At the present moment, all young age groups are trained commandos. They start at 18 and then, even after they finish their military service, they keep their deadly skills refreshed with frequent refresher courses. This applies to both sexes. Israel, in other words, is becoming a total military community. Such communities have had a military impact far in excess of their numbers in the past, the Spartans for instance.

The man or woman who goes to work armed and is ready to shoot accurately from the hip will become more and more the rule in Israel. In many respects, such armed societies are abhorrent, but as military machines they function well; humans seem to thrive in wars of survival.

CANADA'S STORY

Few Grains Of Gold Greatly Changed B.C.

By BOB BOWMAN

In 1857 British Columbia was a fur-trading area controlled by the Hudson's Bay Company. In fact it wasn't even called British Columbia. Vancouver Island was a separate colony and had been leased by the Hudson's Bay Company for $1.75 a year, a deal that was kept in effect until 1866. The mainland was known as New Caledonia.

Although fur-trading was the only business of both areas, Victoria had become a naval base during the Crimean War when Britain was fighting Russia. Ships of the Royal Navy, patrolling the Pacific, often stopped at Esquimalt where there was a base on shore including some small buildings used as a hospital.

One night in 1857, Governor James Douglas was attending a dinner in the Mess Hall and casually produced a few grains of gold which had come from the North Thompson River in New Caledonia. Probably the people at the dinner were having too good a time to pay much attention, but Douglas quietly predicted that the gold would bring about great changes and busy times. It must have been one of the best forecasts ever made, and changed the entire complexion of British Columbia.

Douglas had enough confidence in his prediction to urge the British government to send troops to protect the colony in the event of a gold rush, and the first contingent arrived on Feb. 13, 1859. They included Royal Engineers and 180 Marines who were transferred from Hong Kong. In the meantime the Royal Navy ships at Esquimalt were ordered to protect the colony in case of trouble.

Douglas' foresight probably saved British Columbia from being taken over by the U.S. More than 30,000 prospectors poured into the Fraser and Thompson River areas. Most of them were Americans who had taken part in the California gold rush which had petered out. They had a favorite song:

"Soon our banner will be streaming,
Soon the eagle will be screaming,
And the lion—see it cowers
Hurrah boys, the river's ours!"
If there had been fighting with the Indians, or among the miners themselves, the U.S. might have sent in troops to protect the Americans working there, and the area would have been lost to Britain and Canada.

Merely Tip Of A Golden Iceberg Seized By India's Customs Men

BOMBAY (AP) — Along a dark beach on the Arabian Sea, Indian customs officials emerged from a thicket and grabbed $835,000 in gold and watches, along with half a dozen men.

The raid against smugglers was one of several recently in which officials recovered well over $1,000,000—only the tip of a golden iceberg.

Customs men seized more than $6,700,000 in gold in 1968. One official estimates the amount is "three to five per cent of what's coming in and it's probably closer to three."

Even the five-per-cent figure means at least $134,000,000 in gold bullion was bootlegged into India in 1968.

To protect reserves of foreign exchange, the government has outlawed gold imports, but a seemingly insatiable demand has produced a booming gold trade.

Gold prices in India now are close to double the $40-an-ounce figure on the world market. High profits and small risks have made the country the world's chief target for gold smuggling.

MANY INVIST

Describing the demand, a government official said: "Inherently, the Indian has confidence in gold and gold alone. He believes in investing in gold. That is his security in a world of chaos. A stroll through Bombay's palm-lined streets gives an indication of the demand. Women who sweep streets for the equivalent of a few cents a day can be seen wearing gold earrings or other trinkets. Gold shops glitter with merchandise and the city's bullion traders do a brisk business. At Hindu weddings it is customary for the bride's father to deck his daughter with as much gold as he can afford.

Officials say smuggling operations are centred in Dubai, a Persian Gulf port 1,200 miles away and 4 1/2 days distant by ship, the vessel that forms the backbone of gold-running into India's west coast.

The yellow metal, usually in the form of biscuit-size wafers marked with the names of European banks and trading houses, is paid for in dollars and other hard currencies bought on the black market, or in silver and cut diamonds. Indian officials charged with stopping the smuggling claim their hands are tied by lack of funds and equipment and a dearth of interest from higher authorities.

Watch Your Eyes

The Canadian Association Optometrists warns that unless proper precautions are taken, dozens of people will suffer permanent eye damage during the eclipse of the sun on March 7. Much of the danger lies with children, for whom such a natural phenomenon will be an exciting occurrence, and who will be tempted to stare sunwards as the eclipse takes place.

"Looking directly at the sun for even a few seconds can cause permanent eye damage," warns Dr. E. J. Spearman, Association President.

The Optometrists admit the temptation to watch the eclipse will be strong, but suggest that it will be safer and more convenient to watch it on television which will be covering it from the best vantage points available.

But if the adventure of first-hand viewing is your aim, they suggest that you prepare what they call a "pin-hole camera" to help preserve your vision.

The "pin-hole camera" is simply a show box which has a clean hole punched in one end with a needle, and plain white paper taped or glued inside at the other end. By aiming the pin-hole at the sun, a clearly defined image of the eclipse will be projected on the white paper.

A more elaborate version of the device, but better than the "camera", is a "sunscope", plans for which are being distributed in conjunction with the provincial optometrical associations across Canada by the Canadian Association of Optometrists. It employs the same principal as the "pin-hole camera", but is made to fit over the head, and projects a clearer, brighter image.

Kelowna Teachers Marry March 28

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McCormick, of New Westminster, take pleasure in announcing the forthcoming marriage of Miss Hedy Hilda Schlitt, A.R.C.T., R.M.T., to Dale Allan Wentworth, C.A.T.A., R.M.T., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter George Wentworth.

A social evening in honor of their engagement was held recently at the home of the groom-to-be's parents on Lombardy St.

Twenty-eight Kelowna music teachers and friends gathered to congratulate the couple. The ring of the bride-to-be was admired by all. A solitary diamond set in white gold with a maquis cut diamond on either side.

For the occasion she wore a dress of deep purple velvet complemented with white lace collar and cuffs.

Gifts were presented and a musical evening was enjoyed by all. For a buffet lunch, the table was set in orchid and white centred by a cake decorated with musical notes.

Mrs. Frank Stishenko and Mrs. Wesley Penner assisted Mrs. Walter Wentworth with the serving.

The wedding will take place March 28 at 4 p.m., in the First United Church, Kelowna.

ANN LANDERS

Men Are The Dealers In The Shack-Up Game

Dear Ann Landers: I met a girl about a year ago. I was 21. We fell in love and I asked her to marry me. I made it clear I'd have to finish school first. She agreed to wait. For ten months we had a beautiful love affair.

Last fall the girl enrolled in college and is now living away from home. She says she loves me and is waiting for me—but not exactly. By that she means she is having "free sex" with several boys but she is not emotionally involved with any of them. When I ask why she does this she says she needs to learn the difference between uncommitted sex and meaningful sex. She also insists the only way she can learn if our love is real is by comparing it with other kinds of love.

I believe if she loved me she wouldn't need all this experimentation. Furthermore, I don't understand "free sex." Please explain it? —Big Q

Dear Q: There's no such thing as "free sex." Everything has a price and sex is no exception. The price YOUR girl might have to pay is the love of a young man who really cares for her. Uncommitted sex is a new name for an old game. We called it "shacking up" — no strings attached. The game was always a disappointment and, of course, the female players, then, as now were the losers. The odds always favor the dealer, honey. And when it comes to sex, the men hold the deck.

Dear Ann Landers: Everyone I know reads Ann Landers. Please convey a vital message to Mr. and Mrs. Reader and their children.

The minute you finish this column, place a pen or pencil and a writing pad by the telephone. You never know when you'll be asked to take down a

LIVER AND ONIONS WITH A TWIST

- 6 bacon slices
  - 2 cups sliced onions
  - 1/2 cup flour
  - 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
  - 2 pounds calves' liver, 1/4-inch thick
  - 1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms
  - Dry white wine
  - 1 teaspoon Lemon Pepper Marinade
  - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- Fry bacon until crisp; drain on paper toweling. Sauté onions in bacon fat; remove. Combine flour and seasoned salt. Coat liver with seasoned flour. Brown in bacon fat; remove. Place in shallow baking dish.
- Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Add enough wine to mushroom liquid to make 3/4 cup. Add Lemon Pepper Marinade. Top liver with onions and mushrooms. Pour wine mixture over liver. Crumble bacon and add to liver. Sprinkle parsley on top. Bake at 325 degrees for 20 minutes. This serves 6 to 8.

HITHER and YON

Mrs. John Surtees, Kelowna museum curator, left for Vancouver Thursday to attend a one day planning meeting of the British Columbia Museum Association. She is in charge of planning workshops for the forthcoming British Columbia Museum Association's annual seminar at Penticton in September. The Kelowna museum will be open during her absence.

A delightful noon luncheon was hosted by Mrs. G. R. Ruff at her home on Clarissa Crescent Wednesday in honor of Mrs. F. L. Sanderson, Assembly President of the Rebekahs of British Columbia prior to her official visitation to the Kelowna Rebekah Lodge, No. 38. Guests included Mrs. E. J. DesRoches; Mrs. A. B. Wigglesworth; Mrs. Hilda Tutt; Mrs. Charlotte Dehurst; Mrs. William Whitehead; Mrs. J. F. Prior; Mrs. Walter Hill of Penticton and Mrs. G. V. Mugford.

Mrs. Rodney Bennett entertained 12 of her friends and neighbors at an evening coffee party at her home on Dougal Road, Thursday evening.

Mrs. D. L. Simon of Pandosy Street leaves on Sunday for a week's visit in Calgary with her sister, Mrs. E. J. Eddington.

Lions' Ladies Are Shown Slides On Promotion Of Swimming Pool

The February meeting of the Lions' Ladies was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Swirhun, Pinehurst Crescent, on Monday evening. The ladies were very interested in watching slides accompanied by a recorded commentary promoting the building of an indoor swimming pool for Kelowna.

Kinetics, Mrs. Ray Parton and Mrs. Fred Fowler are both on the swimming pool committee and after showing the slides answered questions pertaining to costs and types of pools.

Mrs. Darrol Tarves, head of the charity committee, read a prospective list of local organizations that the club annually supports and it was agreed to donate as proposed. The chairman also told of a needy family and the ladies all agreed to bring canned goods. Mrs. John Johnson, 1945 Carruthers St., offered her home for a collection depot.

The president, Mrs. Elmer Drydal then finalized her committees for the coming year. Refreshments — Mrs. William Poelzer and Mrs. Sidney Cook; entertainment — Mrs. Harry Cretin and Mrs. Charlie dePlyffer; ways and means. Mrs. Donald Johnston and Mrs. Glen Stewart; decorating — Mrs. Hugh Fox; phoning, Mrs. Roy Novak and publicity, Mrs. James Aspy.

Delicious refreshments were served at the end of the meeting. The members will be notified by word as to the place of the next month's meeting.

Canada's IODE Celebrating Their 70th Birthday Today

On Feb. 13, the IODE (Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire) will celebrate its 70th birthday.

The IODE, a progressive Canadian Women's organization, faces a continual challenge in the world of today but can be justifiably proud of its many accomplishments.

There are two branches of the IODE in the district, Dr. Knox Chapter in Kelowna and Mount Boucherie in Westbank.

The national organization comprised of more than 24,000 members, raises and disburses annually more than $1,000,000 for education, emergency and disaster relief.

In the field of "Service" more than half a million dollars annually is spent at home and abroad. $379,000 in Canada and $129,000 overseas.

It is impossible to give a complete resume of the work done or gifts contributed, but some of special note are a revolving bed unit for treatment of burns, a heart monitor, a resuscitator, an anaesthetic table and a collimator, which is a cone shaped attachment for an X-ray machine sent to Korea.

Countless hours of volunteer assistance are given to hospitals, CNIB, Red Cross Clinics, Senior Citizens' Homes, etc.

FOR NEEDY

A total of 556 cases of clothes for the needy were shipped. These boxes for distribution in Canada and abroad, are made up of practical, attractive clothing, beautifully knitted layettes and quilts.

In educational services more than $330,000 was expended.

The number of Canadian schools receiving assistance is an impressive total of 1,888.

Primary Chapters show interest in assisting children of Indian and Eskimo heritage. 148 Canadian schools adopted under the National Adoption Plan, are located in Newfoundland, Labrador and the Northwest Territories.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wickenheiser of Rutland are pleased to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter Denise Ann to Kenneth Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pratt of Joe Rich Valley. The wedding date will be announced later.

Canadian Apparel Making Inroads To U.S. Market

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian apparel trade got more proof last week that it can make significant inroads in the American market with a bit of effort.

The Canadian department of trade and commerce, which less than a month ago brought another successful show of women's wear to this garment capital of North America, did the same thing with men's clothing.

With a sort of left-handed assist from the hard-pressed American economy, representatives of the 28 companies displaying tailored goods, outer and sports wear or sweaters generally found things to their liking.

For most it was a first excursion into the American market. Several company representatives said in interviews they got good or substantial orders and many saw at least considerable interest by buyers from across the United States who visited the 3 1/2-day show.

This is the first department-sponsored showing of men's wear, but the attitude of buyers at this and the earlier women's wear shows indicates that an aggressive Canadian industry can achieve a good future in a lucrative market.

OFFERS A DIFFERENCE

Canadian apparel offers some difference — sometimes something that passes for a Canadian look, sometimes copies of European styles and often with European fabrics, quality workmanship and competitive prices or better.

Department officers provided figures to show that Canadian apparel now is starting to give the traditional European exporters of clothing stiff competition in some categories.

Week's Luck Not The Best

By JIM TREADGOLD

Fishing on Okanagan Lake has not been quite as productive this past week as was the week previous.

After the heavy storms of a week ago when fishing was impossible, the lake has been exceedingly calm at times which is not the best for success on the big ones. The barometric pressure has been high which is good for fishing, but the moon phase has not been good.

The largest trout in the derby for the month of February is a 14 pounds five ounces caught by H. Campbell. January derby prize was taken by Keith Rains with a trout going 17 pounds five ounces. Keith has caught 22 good sized trout to date this year on Okanagan Lake, which goes to prove that the fish are there, but you have to get on the lake to take them. Keith has taken all of his fish on the mac squid plugs—pink pearl and the gold mama mac.

DON HILL AND CLARENCE HENDERSON spent a couple of days last week on the Shuswap Lake, with only fair success. Don did take one of the nicest specimens of the Kamloops trout that I have ever seen. It was approximately 12 pounds, but in excellent condition. They fished the narrow area and both Anstie and Seymour arms, but had the best luck near Armstrong Point. They stayed at the Wild Rose Bay Resort which is now open, and road in is good. The new owners are a Mr. and Mrs. L. Atkinson and the camp can be reached by radio phone from Vernon. IK111 is their phone number.

There have been very few fishing the Shuswap this winter, so with conditions right it could be a good bet for the next month.

A NUMBER OF WINTER FISHERMEN are ice fishing the various mountain lakes in this area, but no hot spots have been reported. Ice conditions are not good on many lakes due to rising water levels. There are two and three layers of ice on some lakes, and conditions are not too safe on some. With access conditions good this winter most immediate mountain lakes are being used, with the McCulloch chain being fairly popular. Bear and Jackpine lakes are also being used. I could think of a number of lakes where good fishing is being done. There is a lot of fish, but no reports have come in of anyone trying it. This would be a snowmobile run in from the main logging road which has been kept open by winter logging.

I spent a little time last week with Earl Carlson of Vernon, the sportsman behind the public petition to get the antlerless game animals closed for hunting and more discreet game management in B.C. He now has approximately 50,000 hunters' names on the petitions that have been circulated throughout B.C. and many, many letters in favor of what he is doing. Thousands of sportsmen in B.C. are alarmed at the depletion of our big game and are afraid if something isn't done soon good hunting will be a dream of the past. In many local areas it is already a dream.

THE GAME BRANCH DIRECTOR Dr. Hatter admits in letters to Carlson that "the big game populations are down and away down in some areas of B.C., but in no case are they down because of over hunting"—end of quote. This is extremely hard to stomach, because if it's not over-hunting it's "over-shooting" that has been the real problem especially in the taking of too many of the female sex.

The game branch is just too eager for the licence fees from licences and tags, this revenue is absolutely essential to their present set-up, so they just have to pump out the licences and tags to get the money to keep the department going. This is as wrong as wrong can be, and the end is well in sight if things are not changed soon.

Carlson believes, and I go along with him, that in a number of our game management areas that our deer herds are down to 10 per cent of what they were 10 years ago. That is down 90 per cent and our own GMA No. 6 and No. 8 are two of those areas.

IT IS FAST TIME FOR THE concerned thinking sportsman to confront our game managers to find out just what is wrong—is it a matter of money, or is it that they have all learned out of one wrong textbook—like the DDT theory of 20 years ago: look what that has done to our environment.

I ask all thinking sportsmen who care, and I believe most do, to sign the petitions that are circulating. Some of the recommendations in the petition are: That widespread either sex seasons be immediately closed in heavily hunted areas throughout the province; that mature males only be allowed in very heavily hunted and depleted areas; that only a limited number of female animals be allowed taken in overstocked areas to prevent an over-harvest of the female; that a game restorative program be used where necessary to start new stocks and restore depleted areas; that bears not be needlessly killed on sight, and left to rot, by livestock attendants on government ranges; that severe penalties be applied to stop harassment of game by aircraft and snowmobiles; that increased game law enforcement be used to stop the ever-increasing poaching and bag limit violations.

The petitions are to be in soon so act quickly if you have not already done so.

THE FISH AND GAME CLUB are sponsoring the Arv. Seistrup show at the Community Theatre this coming Monday evening, Feb. 16. This will be a good show and well worth seeing. There will be films and personal narration by Seistrup, on Rocky Mountain and Dall sheep, Osborne and Mountain caribou, then salmon fishing in stream and on the ocean in the Klamath area. The hunting is from B.C., Alberta and the Mackenzie mountains in the Northwest Territories. See you there.

HOME FIRE HAZARDS
CALGARY (CP) — List and other stuff in furnaces and automatic washers and dryers can create a serious fire hazard, says Fire Marshal L. C. Marks. Furnaces and dryer filters clogged with lint and dust force the motors to work overtime to circulate air and often cause them to burn out.

TEACHES AND PREACHES
EDMONTON (CP) — Dr. Ernie Runions spends 35 hours a week teaching psychiatry at the University of Alberta and almost as much time as part-time minister of Bonnie Doon Baptist Church. The church has a congregation of only 20 families. Dr. Runions is a licensed minister, but he is not ordained.

ON T.V.?

Carr Noticed In The Prairies

Gene Carr of Nanaimo, and a former star with the Kelowna Buckaroos, continues to get rave notices in the outland Western Canada Hockey League, and in the all-star game Tuesday in Edmonton, scored a goal to help the league's all-stars to a 7-2 rout over the Edmonton Oil Kings.

Carr, who played for the Buckaroos two seasons before going to Flin Flon to play for the Bombers this season, currently is in seventh place in the league's scoring race, with 20 goals and 44 assists for 64 points.

Watching the game Tuesday, were professional hockey scouts from every National Hockey League team, including the new franchise from Vancouver.

Two of the scouts, Phil Maloney, a long time star with the Canucks of the Western Hockey League, and Len Lunde showed special interest in Carr, who would no doubt prefer the coast city for a professional career.

OTHER B.C. PLAYERS

Other former B.C. Junior Hockey League players who performed in the game were Kamloops' Randy Rota who scored one goal, and Buckaroos' Butch Deadmarsh.

The leading scorer in the league, and a linemate of Carr's, is Reg Leach, who has been hailed as another Bobby Orr.

French Curling Team Named For '70 World Championship

The French team that will contest the World Curling Championship in Utica, New York, March 17-21, has been declared, and for the third year in a row, Pierre Boan of Megève will skip the French entry in the World Curling Championship. And for the third year in a row, Boan will have three different curlers with him. There's quite a story to the Boan name.

The French National Championships were held in Cham-onix last weekend and the winning rink from Megève listed Albert Sulpiac as skip, with his brother Maurice, Sulpiac as third, Alain Bozon playing second, and Joseph Pomi as lead. However, Pomi (who is 68 years old) has had to withdraw from the World Series and Boan was approved as a substitute by the French Curling Association. With his international experience, Boan will skip the entry and the other three will shuffle into the first three positions. In 1968 at Pointe Claire, Quebec, Boan played with three Parodi brothers: Guy, Francesco, and Martino. But the Parodis, who hold Swiss citizenship (although they have lived and worked in France for over 20 years) suffered from an Association ruling limiting the championship to French nationals only, and so were ineligible for the 1969 championship. So in 1969, Boan added Richard Duvillard, Yves Vallet, and Andre Mabboux and again won the French crown. At Perth, Scotland, Boan finished with a record of two wins and five losses.

Competition Is Too Tough For Slumping St. Louis

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Manager and coach Scotty Bowman fired a few verbal blasts at his St. Louis Blues earlier this week in an attempt at pushing them out of their recent slump, but the competition is proving too tough.

Bowman's Blues took their second beating in as many nights when they went into Detroit Thursday and gave up a 5-2 decision to the Red Wings.

Despite the loss the Blues hold a 10-point lead in the West Division, but second-place Philadelphia Flyers stayed on the trail by holding Toronto Maple Leafs to a 3-3 tie in the only other scheduled contest.

The Blues now have lost their last six games and Bowman's reaction to the slump was to demote three of his regulars—Andre Boudrias, Larry Keenan and Ron Anderson—to the minor leagues last Monday.

"It's going to be back to work for the Blues," he said. "Work and more work." Their work Thursday night was not nearly adequate as

PETER STELMOWSKI ... three points

Pete Stelmowski scored twice and set up another goal by captain Alex Delvecchio to lead the Wings before a home crowd of 14,281.

Gordie Howe and Gary Unger also scored with goalie Roy Edwards making 27 saves to back up the win.

Earnie Wakley faced 31 shots in the nets for the Blues who got goals from Tim Ecclestone and Phil Goyette.

The Blues' chances of getting back into the win column are slightly improved by the weekend schedule which has them meeting weaker West Division opponents—last-place Los Angeles Kings and second-last Minnesota North Stars.

The Flyers' win column, meanwhile, holds a total of only 13, but their total of ties grew to 19 Thursday night, just four short of the league record of 23 by Montreal Canadiens in the 1962-63 season.

Dave Keon broke a 1-1 tie and put the Leafs ahead 3-1 with two second-period goals in the game before 14,606 fans at Philadelphia.

LETTER TO SPORTS EDITOR

Feb. 12, 1970

Sir: Your article of Feb. 11, "Fighting is Natural" as it applies to hockey calls for a reply. You mention that there might be a psychological effect should players have to refrain from letting go some steam in a hotly contested contest. I would say that if players had to control their fighting tendencies for the good of the team, psychologically they might be much better for it. As it is now a player can fight three times before he is tossed out of the game. There is no encouragement, as the rule now reads for a player to back off from a fight for the good of the team. What's a five minute penalty ... and yet when a fight occurs and others join in they are given game misconducts. The original fighting participants stay in the game.

Whether it's pee-wee or NHL the name of the game is hockey and it's a sport. Fighting is also a sport and the participants are roped off in a ring and the fans pay to watch a fight. We have fighting in our pee-wee ranks and on up to the pros.

Feb. 10 an article appeared in the Courier reporting a statement made by Scotty Bowman of the St. Louis Blues and I quote, "In Pittsburgh last week when Barclay Plager had his nose broken, three Pittsburgh players pummeled him and none of the Blues came to help him." Is this what you call letting off steam?

Yes I campaigned for a change in the rule from juvenile and lower so that players involved in fistfights would be tossed out of the game. The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association rules chairman and the referee instructors for British Columbia also agreed that a change in the ruling might be worth a try. An amendment was put forth at the last BCAHA meeting. It was overruled and one of the main reasons was that the poorest player could be sent out to get the best on the other team. No thought for good sportsmanship from the adults who set policy for minor hockey here in B.C.

I certainly hope that you get a few comments from other interested people, even those who agree with you. I have said it and will repeat that people who go to a hockey game and enjoy the fighting that goes on are sadistic. I personally believe that fighting in hockey stinks and like the garbage, should be thrown out.

Yours truly,
HERB SULLIVAN,
Referee Co-ordinator,
Kelowna and District Minor Hockey

THE OLD GUARD AT THE PALACE

Sir Noel Coward, British composer and playwright, is flanked by two friends as he leaves Buckingham Palace

signer who started her theatrical career in 1924, and at right, Joyce Carey, actress, who started in the theatre in 1916. Both are longtime friends of Sir Noel. The investiture followed the title bestowed upon Sir Noel in the New Year's honors list.

9 p.m. — The Name Of The Game (c). The King of Denmark — starring Tony Franciosa and Susan Saint James. Joseph Cotten guest stars as a noted Shakespearean scholar who possesses a secret concerning the Bard which if revealed, would have incredible impact on the literary world. Noel Harrison, Margaret Leighton, Charles McGraw and Louise Latham also guest stars.

TUESDAY, FEB. 17

9 p.m. — McQueen (c). Five Hectic Hours — Anne and Oscar decide to be married in a civil ceremony, to avoid the religious conflict of their families. They're told that they'll have to be put on a waiting list for weeks. McQueen and Denise charge into the bureaucratic jungle, and finally find a judge who doesn't share the assembly line view of the marriage ceremony.

9:30 p.m. — The Bold Ones (c). To Save A Life — Doctor's episode starring E. G. Marshall, John Saxon and David Hartmen. The doctors are stymied in their attempts to save a man's life by an "old line" doctor's unwillingness to accept death in his own patient's case. Guest stars are Pat Hingle and Gene Raymond.

11:30 p.m. — Hollywood Theatre — "Vagabond King" — Kathryn Grayson, Rita Moreno. Remake of the popular Rudolf Friml operetta set in the France of 1461. Ever-delightful Friml score includes "Song of the Vagabonds" and "Only a Rose."

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 18

8 p.m. — Green Acres (c). The Case of the Hooterville Fraud — Oliver unwittingly inspires his Hooterville neighbours to get an illegal half-million-dollar payment from the Internal Revenue Service.

8:30 p.m. — The Manipulators (c). One and One Makes Four. Having served seven years of a 15-year sentence for assaulting his boss in a incident involving his wife, Len Parr is making his third bid for parole. Rick tries to discover the reason why the well-behaved prisoner has been refused parole twice before, and suspects it has something to do with Len's wife Jessie.

9:30 p.m. — The Well-Tempered Listener (c). In 1774, Johann Sebastian Bach completed the second book of his monumental "Das wohltemperirte Clavier". The Well-Tempered Clavier, consisting of 48 preludes and fugues, two each in all the major and minor keys, designed to test the new system of equal temperament in keyboard instrument tuning. Typically, he poured all the emotional, as well as technical resources of his art into these "exercises", which Robert Schumann a century later called "the musicians' daily bread".

THURSDAY, FEB. 19

8 p.m. — The Bill Cosby Show (c). The Longest Hook Shot in the World — Coach Kincaid, accused of prejudice against short basketball players, meets a short student who forces reconsideration of his attitudes.

8:30 p.m. — The Nature of Things: Darwin And The Galapagos (c). The Islands — A survey of the animal and plant life of the Galapagos archipelago; a look at the geological origins of the islands, their geography and climate; and an explanation of the generally accepted theory of how these volcanic islands, owned by Ecuador, first became populated by plants and animals.

10 p.m. — Thursday Night (c). The Military Tradition. As the trappings of military glory tend to fade away in the unification of Canada's armed forces, and the forces themselves are pruned for a vague future role, what's left for the professional soldier? In this documentary by Gordon Donaldson, Thursday Night enters the world of Canadian military men, a world seemingly closed and separate, to hear them discuss the purpose of wars now and is the part, the traditions that bind men together in the "regimental family", the motivations that make a soldier in peacetime and in war.

11:30 p.m. — Hollywood Theatre — "Hide and Seek" — Ian Carmichael, Curt Jurgens. Research chemist looking for a friend who disappeared is lured to a hideout where he is to be shanghaied and sold to a foreign power.

FRIDAY, FEB. 20

Central Singers In Kelowna For Community Theatre Date

The Central Singers, the concert choir from Central Washington State College, Ellensburg, will be heard at the Kelowna Community Theatre Feb. 27 at 8:15 p.m.

The choir was organized in the fall of 1938 when the present conductor came to the college as chairman of the department of music. From the choir's meager beginnings on a college campus of 500 students, it has grown in stature to become one of the finest performing groups in the Pacific Northwest. More than 200 students are auditioned each year for a place in this concert choir of 70 voices. This season marks the 32nd annual tour. The Kelowna visit was sponsored by the Kelowna Rotary Club.

The Central Singers will present a varied program of great choral literature, ranging from the 16th century to the present. The first group of numbers will include Alleluia, Alleluia by Dietrich Buxtehude (five parts),

WAYNE S. HERTZ
Choir's Director

Magnificat by Andrea Gabrieli (for three four-part choruses), Let Every Nation His Praises Sing by Melchior Franck (six parts), and the double-choir Motet by Johannes Brahms Make Thou In Me, God.

The second part of the program will include the Anton Bruckner Vexilla Regis Prodeunt, the Franz Schubert God In the Storm Cloud, the Felix Mendelssohn Heilig, the Alexander Tcherepnin Alleluia, and a setting of the 23rd Psalm by Paul Creston. Mr. Creston is a member of Central's music staff as composer-in-residence. Soloist for the Paul Creston number will be Miss Barbara Brummert, soprano, and a member of the music staff, and director of the Central Singers.

In order to include on the concert some of the lighter numbers for smaller ensemble, the 16-voice Central Singers will perform "show-tunes" and "popular" arrangements for the third section of the evening. Included will be: Take Me Along by Bob Merrill, Its Not Unusual, arrangement by Anita Kerr, When I Fall In Love, arrangement by Howard Cable, Frankie and Johnnie, arrangement by Mancini, and other popular tunes.

The final portion of the program will be another number for three choirs — Watchman, What of the Night by Houston Bright, Shadows by Royal Stan-

Familiar Voice Stilled At 56

TORONTO (CP) — Byng Whitteker, whose voice became familiar to radio listeners in more than 30 years of broadcasting, died Monday night of an apparent heart attack. He was 56.

Mr. Whitteker joined the CBC in 1937 and appeared on such popular talk and record shows as Audio, Byng's Choice, Court of Opinion and Small Types Club.

He also covered many royal tours, often filling long, silent gaps with interesting chatter.

In 1965, he was named chief commentator, special events, for the CBC and later helped develop programming for broadcasters covering 1967's centennial celebrations.

Mr. Whitteker, born in Dundela, Ont., in the Ottawa Valley in 1914, was christened Genzmer Earl. He discarded the names when he was a student at Waterloo College.

In 1937 he joined the CBC where he remained except for the years from 1943-1945 when he was on loan to the BBC in London.

He is survived by his wife, June Dennis, a free-lance broadcaster, two sons and two daughters.

Anthony Newley Sued For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Joan Collins, 32, is asking Superior Court to dissolve her 1963 marriage to Anthony Newley.

In her petition Friday, Miss Collins said she and the 38-year-old actor-singer-director had irreconcilable differences.

This is the chief ground recognized for ending a marriage in California since the state's Family Law Act took effect Jan. 1.

The couple, both British, married May 27, 1963, in Norwalk, Conn. They began a trial separation last October.

They have two children, Tara, 6, and Alexander, 4.

Miss Collins was divorced in 1957 from Maxwell Douglas Reed. Newley was divorced in London by Elizabeth Ann Newley, five days before his wedding to Miss Collins.

Movie Ratings To Be Modified

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After 15 months of what the film industry calls "gratifying success," its voluntary program of rating movies is being modified.

Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, said Tuesday one charge was made because a survey had shown considerable confusion over the "M" rating — which meant a film was recommended for mature audiences only.

So that category is being dropped in favor of "GP." This means all ages may view the movie but that parental guidance or discretion is advised.

Here is the new set of standards:

G—All ages admitted.

GP—All ages admitted, but parental discretion recommended.

R—Anyone under 17 must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Z—No one under 18 admitted.

Words Can't Hurt Centre As A Top Ottawa Topic

OTTAWA (CP) — It's been called everything from a traffic obstruction to a national disgrace and been criticized since its 1963 inception. But Ottawa's $46,000,000 National Arts Centre, now well through its first season, seems to be holding its own.

Despite a budget reduction, and administrative and technical difficulties during the first six months, Director-General Hamilton Southam says simply: "It works." And he is optimistic about the future.

"It's a fine building," he said in an interview. "As a place for musical and dramatic performances it works better than we had hoped. Visiting companies love being here."

It works for the people too, he stressed, reeling off a list of attendance figures that showed 73 per cent of the seats in the opera house, theatre, studio and salon have been filled since the official opening June 2.

CASH INTAKE CHEERING

The box office figures are encouraging too. Estimated revenue for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1970, is $852,000, and $760,000 had already come in by the end of November. Mr. Southam notes that this figure is based strictly on returns from productions brought in by the centre, and that approximately $240,000 more was realized from rental to guests such as Guy Lombardo, Johnny Cash and the Irish Rovers.

The road to popularity has not always been smooth, however. Shortly before the centre's opening, the $2,800,000 federal grant was cut by $300,000, which meant deleting a planned annual festival and a national information service, and restrictions on advertising and touring.

In July, Mary Jolliffe quit as the centre's public relations director because she felt there was not enough money to do the work effectively. At the time, she readily admitted she spent too much on the two-week opening festival, saying "You can't launch an astronaut with a firecracker." But she felt the party did a great deal in dissipating resentment against the centre.

DIRECTOR QUILTS

In November, the pot was boiling again. Robert Montpetit, the centre's finance director, resigned over "disagreement with certain financial procedures" accepted by the board's executive committee.

At the same time, members of Theatre du Capricorne, the resident French-language theatre company, expressed dissatisfaction with director Jean-Guy Sabourin. Three resigned. After lengthy discussions, the remaining 13 agreed to complete their contracts.

There's been difficulty in programming, too, notably in predicting popular taste. A Marlene Dietrich film festival and personal appearances by the star, who Mr. Southam thought was "better than Belafonte," did not go over well. Neither did the Theatre du Nouveau Monde's second run of Lystrata nor the resident orchestra's vocal subscription series.

But failure has been balanced by success, particularly with the Montreal Symphony's series of pop concerts, Charlottetown Festival and Vancouver Playhouse productions, and appearances by the National Ballet and the Canadian Opera Company.

Attendance for the Canadian revue Love and Maple Syrup in the studio rose to 99 per cent in September from 43 per cent in July, and recent Stratford productions of Hamlet and The Alchemist have done well.

Perhaps the triumph of the season has been the new resident orchestra, conducted by 37-year-old Mario Bernardi, former musical director of London's Sadler's Wells Opera. Of the 44 musicians making up the group, 25 are under 30, and they make, in Mr. Bernardi's words, "a marvellous balance of youth and experience."

For next season, Mr. Southam plans a "more rational approach" to programming, to provide a better balance between the centre's offerings and those of visiting companies and artists. For example, a limit will be placed on the number of visitors per season.

Mr. Southam says the problems have all been part of the centre's growing pains. He has great confidence in its ability to bridge Ottawa's cultural gap, to make the nation's capital reflect the country's cultural as well as its political interests and activities.

Lots Of Hard Work And Speed Needed For Each Gleason Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Writing the music for the Jackie Gleason television show is the equivalent of turning out a Broadway stage show every week, says Lyn Duddy who, with his partner, Jerry Bresler, writes the original songs for the CBS program.

"We must turn out an average of six songs a week and we've done as many as 10," says Duddy, who wrote his first material for Gleason when Gleason was in Follow the Girls and Duddy was in high school.

Besides Gleason, Duddy and Bresler write special material for entertainers Robert Goulet, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, Totie Fields and others.

They go to Miami each year to write the Gleason music and help stage and rehearse it. Duddy formerly had his own choral group and Bresler is a former musical director of the Ed Sullivan Show and numerous other TV shows.

Duddy was in New York over the holidays to scout for a script for a Broadway musical and to buy new clothes. Like Gleason, he had shed a considerable amount of poundage.

Writing songs for television is a little like carving masterpieces in ice. Neither is destined for posterity.

"We try to be as direct as possible because television audiences don't have the patience to look for symbolism," he said. "If you don't grab them in the first four bars you can write them off."

Duddy said he lost 85 pounds in seven months on a high protein diet. Gleason, on another diet, lost about 60 pounds.

Asked why there seemed to be a collection of heavyweights around Gleason, he said: "More than anything else it's the tremendous pressure we work under. Gleason wants a big show with Broadway production values. Now when you work under those pressures you either eat or fast. We happen to be a collection of eaters."

"We rehearse at Hialeah and Jackie keeps a chef there. You should see the stack of lettuce now. Everybody's eating salads. A year ago he was kept busy eating pies and cakes."

Academy Marks It With An X — That Is Its Big Headache

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Voters of the Motion Picture Academy are faced with a moral dilemma this year: Can they give an Academy Award to an X-rated movie?

There is, of course, nothing in the Academy voting regulations against it. But the majority of Academy members are mature members of the industry who are extremely conscious of Hollywood's public relations stance. And they realize that rewarding an X film—X means for adults only—could bring a torrent of criticism from those already concerned about the changing morality of movies.

The centre of attention will be Midnight Cowboy, rated X because of explicit heterosexual and homosexual sequences. Some observers, including myself, find the film less offensive than certain R-rated films—restricted for juveniles who must be accompanied by parents. For instance, Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice.

But, Midnight Cowboy was stuck with its X, which meant that juveniles could not be admitted under any circumstances. It is not only one of the most successful, but one of the best reviewed films of 1969, and it is certain to be in the Oscar winning at various levels.

NEW VS. OLD

Aside from the X controversy, the Oscar derby will be interesting for its division of the new versus the old. Will the Academy voters, who represent Hollywood's old guard, recognize the highly popular "now" films like Midnight Cowboy and Easy Rider? Or will they stick with more traditional entertainments like True Grit and Hello, Dolly! Here is how the entries appear to this observer:

Best picture—Midnight Cowboy, True Grit, Easy Rider, They Shoot Horses, Don't They? Hello, Dolly! Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice, Z, The Wild Bunch, The Reivers, The Secret of Santa Vittoria.

Best actor—Jon Voight and Dustin Hoffman, Midnight Cowboy; Anthony Quinn, Santa Vittoria, or A Dream of Kings; John Wayne, True Grit; Alan Arkin, Popi; Richard Benjamin, Goodbye, Columbus; Peter O'Toole, Goodbye Mr. Chips; Richard Burton, Anne of the Thousand Days; Walter Matthau, Hello, Dolly!; Robert Redford, Downhill Racer.

Best actress—Jane Fonda, They Shoot Horses; Liza Minnelli, The Sterile Cuckoo; Maggie Smith, The Prime of Jean Brodie; Genevieve Bujold, Anne of the Thousand Days; Jean Simmons, The Happy Ending; Mia Farrow, John and Mary; Anna Mangani, Santa Vittoria; Kim Darby, True Grit; Ali McGraw, Goodbye, Columbus; Barbra Streisand, Hello, Dolly!

BALLERINA HONORED

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Galina Ulanova, possibly the greatest ballerina of all time, has been awarded the Order of Lenin, the Soviet Union's highest honor. An official announcement Friday said the award was to mark her 60th birthday and for her services to Soviet choreography. Retired, she teaches at the Bolshoi Ballet School.

Omar Sharif Has A Bridge

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Omar Sharif is a highly-paid international movie star whose dark good looks may cause the most heart throbs since Rudolph Valentino.

He has everything going for him, you might think, that a fellow could ask.

Not quite. Except that it would severely diminish his income, says the 37-year-old Egyptian, he would give up films for a career in professional bridge.

"At the bridge table I feel I am the captain of my soul and the master of my fate," the star of Dr. Zhivago told an interviewer. "I find myself hoping the game will never end."

Sharif, who plays as much as he can between movie jobs, is in town as a member of the Omar Sharif Bridge Circus. He and seven other foreign experts are playing top teams in big North American cities. One of their stops was in Winnipeg.

EARNED $20,000

The entourage came to the United States fresh from an 80-rubber match against British experts in London for £1-$2.60 — a pot and side bets. Sharif and company pocketed about $20,000.

Sharif says bridge is an ideal spectator sport. "More fun to watch than to play."

Spectators are admitted to his circus for $3 each. "It's a fast moving game, much faster than golf," he says. "A decision must be made every three or four minutes, and it takes longer than that to play a hole of golf. As a spectator, you see all hands."

He even sees social benefits. "I believe that if people would play bridge they would have less time to hate their fellow man."

Weep For Movie Musical It's Going, Going, Going

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Shed a tear for the movie musical. It's going, going, almost gone.

The decline and near-disappearance of the musical can be cited as one of the major movie trends of 1970—and perhaps for years to come. A survey of future production discloses only two musicals definitely planned for this year.

The pair: Fiddler on the Roof, which Norman Jewison, formerly of Toronto, will film in eastern Europe for the Mirisch Brothers, and Bedknobs and Broomsticks, starring Angela Lansbury, which Disney Studio hopes will be a box office successor to Mary Poppins.

A couple of decades ago, Hollywood was producing between 30 and 40 musicals a year. What happened?

They have been in decline for a decade. A major cause is expense. Musicals require large casts, long rehearsals and extended shooting periods. Nowadays it's almost impossible to film a major musical for less than $5,000,000, and many have cost $10,000,000 and more.

UNPOPULAR OVERSEAS

Another major factor is the lack of receptivity overseas. The English and the Japanese still like U.S. musicals, but the Germans, French and Italians do not. And in many other parts of the world where musical tradition is unknown, chances of success for a musical are scant.

The trend away from the musical has been accentuated during the last year. Costly flops have depressed the fortunes of film companies: Doctor Dolittle and Star! at 20th Century-Fox; Sweet Charity at Universal. Two new releases are being eyed nervously: Goodbye, Mr. Chips by MGM and Paint Your Wagon by Paramount. Both were expensive and received mixed reviews.

Fox now has Hello, Dolly! in release, but it will be a long time before the film shows a profit. The cost: $20,000,000.

And Paramount has about $30,000,000 tied up in two more musicals, Darling Lily (Julie Andrews, Rock Hudson) and On a Clear Day You Can See Forever! (Barbra Streisand, Yves Montand).

On the credit side of the ledger, Columbia has enjoyed remarkable success with its two 1968 releases. Variety's chart of the most important U.S. markets shows that Funny Girl has grossed $15,000,000 and Oliver!, almost $10,000,000.

Largely because of these two films, Columbia was one of the few companies to show a profit last year.

Aside from Fiddler and Bedknobs, there are a few other musical projects that might materialize. United Artists owns the rights to Man of La Mancha and it may be produced in 1971. Stanley Kramer is preparing a musicalized Cyrano de Bergerac, which he might film next year. Warner Brothers owns Mame but has announced no plans for it.

It's probable that if more musicals are made by Hollywood, they will be based on Broadway successes. In general, the big moneymakers in recent times have come from Broadway. But it would be lamentable if the original musical did disappear. Many of the best achievements in the movie musical have been made especially for the screen.

Art Linkletter Battles Drugs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Since his daughter plunged to her death last Oct. 4—the victim, he said, of LSD—Art Linkletter has been engaged in a personal war against dangerous drugs.

He serves on a county drug commission and books all the speaking engagements a busy television career will permit.

What can one man do to stop the drug flood?

"Just a little," Linkletter says. "No one ever knows. But if I can save one kid's life, anything I do is worth it."

His next target will be school teachers.

Through a film aimed specifically at them, the entertainer says, he will try "to educate teachers in how to look for the danger signals, how to handle the drug problem in school."

Diane, 20, the youngest of his five children, fell to her death from her sixth-floor apartment.

Mousetrap Into Its 18th Year

LONDON (Reuters) — Steadily bypassing the vagaries of theatrical taste and fashion, Agatha Christie's play The Mousetrap has entered its 18th year at London's Ambassadors Theatre without showing any signs of flagging popularity.

Peter Saunders, its impresario, sees no reason why it should not run into 1973. By then it would smash the record for the world's longest-running show still held by The Drunkard, an American melodrama which ended a 20-year run in Los Angeles in 1953.

The Mousetrap, a run-of-the-mill thriller which its author thought good for six months when it opened on Nov. 25, 1952, now has been seen by more than 2,500,000 persons who have poured more than $3,600,000 into the box-office. Some 120 actors and actresses have appeared in it and one-year contracts now are the rule to keep the production fresh.

Since the opening, the curtain has been lowered about 30,000 times, more than 110 tons of programs have been sold and 7,013 cigars were smoked by the actors playing one of the roles. All the stage furnishings have been replaced except for a leather armchair and a mantelpiece clock.

Besides ironing 31 miles of shirts, wardrobe mistress Maisie Wilmer Brown has learned great chunks of the play through hearing it each night for 17 years over a loudspeaker system. But her duties have always kept her from seeing it from beginning to end.

The man who has every line of it implanted in his mind is company manager Anthony Huntly Gordon, who has listened to more than 100,000,000 words spoken on the stage since the first cast went into rehearsal.

Disney Magic Still Holds 3 Years After His Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walt Disney's magic still works, three years after his death. For evidence, consult the U.S. television ratings.

For the first 10 shows of this season, The Wonderful World of Disney has averaged a Nielsen rating of 23, its highest in six years. The show's share of the television audience in its viewing period has been 38.9 per cent, the highest in that same period during Disney's nine years on NBC.

Obviously the Disney people are doing something right. What they are doing is to carry on the work Walt started 45 years ago: making entertainment for family audiences.

I dropped by the studio to talk with two of the men who are helping continue Walt's work, Card Walker, executive vice-president, and Ron Miller, executive producer.

Judging from their testimony, the success story of the Disney TV operation seems to be planning, spending and mixing.

PLANS AHEAD

"We've already got our programs finished for this season," reported Miller, a towering former football pro who married Walt's daughter. "We've got a dozen in the works for 1970-71. In fact that season is practically set, and some of our new projects will be for the 1972-73 season."

"We have to work that far ahead, because some of the shows, particularly the nature films, take a long time to produce. Also, we never know how projects will develop—for TV or for theatrical release."

Miller cited Merlin Jones, a program which he himself originally planned as a television two-parter. It proved so promising that it was first released to theatres and earned a $4,200,000 gross. Later it was put into the television show. The original cost was a mere $420,000.

Merlin Jones was the exception. Most two-parter now cost about $750,000 and their chances of earning a profit are hazardous.

"If any financial expert were to examine our television operation he'd say that we should be out of the business," Miller admitted.

"But it has helped us in other ways."

He cited the example of Davy Crockett. During Disney's first season on ABC in 1954-55, the three-part adventure played twice on television to immense ratings. The following year it appeared in theatres and earned $2,500,000. This year it appeared on TV again and was well received.

From the beginning of the series, Walt believed in mixing the shows for entertainment diversity. That policy continues.

"We do 24-25 shows a year for NBC," said Walker. "Five or six of those are nature films, four or five are new features made particularly for television and four or five are theatrical features from our backlog."

The new films are supervised by six producers, all of them Disney veterans. Except for the nature films, most of the subjects are presented in two parts.

"Our shows cost so much, it's more economical to make two parts instead of one—except for the nature films," said Miller.

Which shows draw the biggest audience?

"The comedies always do well, and so do the animal stories," he said. "And when you have a show that combines animals and comedy, as in The Ugly Dachshund or My Dog the Thief, then you can't lose."

Slight Trend To Level Off Observed In Sex Revolution

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the sex revolution levelling off in movies? There are some faint indications that such a trend is on the way. Not that film-makers are turning away from sex; nudity and explicit love-making appear to be standard ingredients of the new cinema.

But sex in itself appears to be losing its capacity to shock. Since I Am Curious (Yellow), little remains that would startle an audience with frank depictions. Like all cinematic devices, nudity and steamy sex have been so overworked that they are almost clichés.

At least one young film-maker believes that the recent emphasis on sex was the result of a wrong evaluation of the youthful audience by the film companies.

YOUTH NOT SHOCKED

He said: "Kids today don't go to the movies because they are sexy. The young people today have a franker, more realistic attitude toward sex than their parents had, and they are neither shocked nor obsessed by it."

"If a movie, has sex, that's okay with them, as long as the sex is real and not thrown in for some phony reason. But they're more interested in politics and today's problems. Young people didn't flock to see Easy Rider or Midnight Cowboy because of the sex quotient; they went because of the themes of alienation and the search for identity."

"The older producers and directors would be making a mistake if they continued to aim sex pictures at the younger audience. They'd just be exposing their own sex hang-ups, which the kids today don't have."

THE FIGURES AGREE

Box-office figures seem to support his thesis. In each New Year's anniversary edition, Variety reports its estimates of the rental returns on the previous year's movies. The figures are unofficial and do not reflect a film's long-range receipts.

But they can be revealing.

The No. 1 moneymaker of 1969 was The Love Bug, a Walt Disney movie which couldn't have offended anyone except perhaps the competitors of Volkswagen. Variety figured that its domestic rentals—returns to the releasing company in the United States and Canada—were $17,000,000.

The runners-up were Funny Girl, Bullitt, Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, Romeo and Juliet, True Grit, Midnight Cowboy, Oliver, Goodbye, Columbus and Chitty Chitty Bang Bang.

AIMED AT FAMILIES

Of the top 10, only Midnight Cowboy was rated X. Goodbye Columbus had some frank passages and there was a bedroom scene in Bullitt and even Romeo and Juliet. True Grit featured some salty language. But most of the top 10 attractions of 1969 could be classed as family entertainment.

Variety's annual list of the all-time box-office champs is even more persuasive, here are the top 15:

The Sound of Music, Gone With the Wind, The Graduate, The Ten Commandments, Ben Hur, Dr. Zhivago, Mary Poppins, My Fair Lady, Thunderball, Cleopatra, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, West Side Story, Around the World in 80 Days, How the West Was Won and Goldfinger.

Except for The Graduate, all fit into the pattern of family entertainment.

Another factor may help persuade film-makers to avoid blatant sex: Television revenue. Virtually no X-rated films will play on television, even with substantial cuts.

Fewer 1970 CFL Viewers As Blackout Is Extended

TORONTO (CP) — There may be fewer Canadian Football League games seen this fall in Kingston and Peterborough, Ont., Montreal, Lethbridge, Alta., Brandon, Man., and the entire province of Saskatchewan.

The two CFL conferences, negotiating separate television contracts, are seeking to extend the 75-mile blackout area to prevent cable companies from televising games back into the city where they originate.

This was one of the more significant developments out of the league annual meeting here Thursday.

The CFL also voted to modify its import restrictions to make an exception for quarterbacks. Under the previous ruling, when a team dressed all 14 imports, one had to be designated as an alternate. If he got into a game, the man he replaced was out for the rest of the contest.

Under the new rule, this has been extended to allow a coach to name a quarterback as his alternate import and allow this man to spell out the regular quarterback as necessary without forcing the regular quarterback out of the game.

But it was the cable television problem which held the spotlight.

CFL Commissioner Jake Gaudaur termed it "the No. 1 problem" in the league and said it was far from settled.

"One thing we have to do is convince the appropriate authorities of the gravity of the situation as it relates to football," he said.

JAKE GAUDAUR
... "No. 1 problem"

The commissioner said cable companies "do not need to retransmit our signals into a blackout area to prosper normally."

Extension of the blackout area, he said, diminishes the exposure of the game and also diminishes the worth of the product to regular television.

"Hopefully, we can arrive at some sort of a solution which would preclude the necessity, as an example, of extending blackouts in the case of Ottawa home games to Kingston and Montreal, because of the millions of Canadians who are going to be deprived of seeing Canadian football," Gaudaur said.

Gaudaur said the Eastern conference is negotiating its television contract on the understanding that Kingston and Montreal would be blacked out on games played in Ottawa. This would mean that games involving Montreal Alouettes playing in Ottawa would not be fed back into the Kingston and Montreal areas. However, there would be no such reciprocal restriction on Ottawa appearances in Montreal.

"Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats ask that Peterborough be blacked out on Toronto and Hamilton games," he said.

Out West, Calgary Stampeders want Lethbridge blacked out; Winnipeg Blue Bombers want Brandon cut off and Saskatchewan Roughriders want the entire province of Saskatchewan blacked out.

"If we could resolve the community antenna situation, not only would we not need to extend the blackout, but we could even decrease it in some areas," Gaudaur said.

In other developments Thursday, it was announced that the 1970 Grey Cup, to be played in Toronto, would be on Saturday, Nov. 28. It was on a Sunday in Montreal last year.

"Sunday in Toronto is a relatively closed day as opposed to Sunday in Montreal," Gaudaur said.

ENFORCE EARLY ARRIVAL
The league will also require that the Grey Cup teams show up in Grey Cup city at the latest by Wednesday of Grey Cup week, bowing to demands by reporters who found little to write about in Montreal last year for most of the big week.

The nine CFL clubs agreed that none of them would use any electronic communications devices during a game other than bench-to-spotter equipment. This makes illegal the use by teams of video-tape replay machines such as used by TV stations.

And the CFL ruled that a man who retires after July 15 must stay retired for the rest of the year.

"There had been some suggestion the retirement list had been used to staff the taxi squads," Gaudaur said.

Teams with an import more than 14 allowed were tempted to "retire" him, keeping him handy to be "unretired" in case of injury to another import.

Gaudaur also announced that the CFL has sold the film rights to 20 of last year's games to television film distributors in the United States.

Territory Girls Upset Favorites

LA RIVIERE, Man. (CP) — Four girls from Old Crow, Y.T., swept the junior women's cross-country event Thursday in the Canadian Junior Nordic Ski championship, winning the first four places.

Ottawa competitors were favored to win the events going into the first day of competition, but the young Indian girls from the community about 300 miles north of Dawson City, Y.T., shut out other top contenders.

Fourteen-year-old Mary Frost was first, running the 5-kilometre course in 22 minutes 45 seconds. Shirley Ford and her sister Glenn, both 15, were second and third respectively.

Agnes Charlie, 16, who drew the first starting position, finished almost five minutes ahead of the next skier, who had started only one minute behind her, although she virtually had to break trail, through the drifted snow in the narrow grooves that cross-country skiers follow in a race.

Agnes placed fourth behind her cousins—all four are related who took the top three positions. Highly-rated Helen Sander, 15, of Ottawa, was left in sixth place behind another National Capital division racer, sixteen-year-old Beverly Cameron.

The top Alberta skier was Joan Osness, 15, of Camrose, who placed seventh.

John Patterson, Canadian Ski Association vice-chairman in charge of cross-country skiing, said the Ottawa skiers have yet to learn how to take cold weather.

USED TO COLD
Coming straight from training in Whitehorse, Y.T., the Old Crow skiers had a definite advantage Thursday at the Holiday Mountain ski resort, in this town about 75 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

Blowing snow continually covered much of the prepared trail the skiers were to follow.

The Old Crow girls thought the course was easy, despite the ruts partially drifting over between skiers.

Mary Frost added that courses usually run "through trees, bushes—everything."

The young Indians all agreed without hesitation they are looking forward to the day they enter world nordic competition.

Lafforgue Performs Perfectly For Alpine Slalom Gold Medal

VAL GARDENA, Italy (AP) — France's Ingrid Lafforgue gave France a second gold medal today by scoring two perfect first places in the two heats of the Women's special slalom of the world Alpine skiing championships.

The 21-year-old from Luchon in the French Pyrenees was clocked in 49.07 and 51.37 seconds in the heats for a total of one minute 40.44 seconds.

Barbara Cochran gave the United States its first silver medal of the games, by finishing fifth in the first run and second in the second. She was clocked in 50.05 and 51.70 for a total of 1:42.15.

France's Michele Jacot made it a French-dominated final by taking third in 50.37 and 51.83 for a total of 1:42.20.

The tough course created an avalanche of victims, with 17 of 55 competitors disqualified in the first run, and top favorites like Austria's Anne Marie Proell and France's Annie Famosse dropping out in the second.

The first run curled through 59 gates with 60 gates on the second. Both tracks were 480 metres long with a 169-metre drop.

Austria's Gertrud Gabl, defending World Cup champion, placed fourth with 49.88 and 52.38 for a total of 1:42.26.

Judy Nagel made it a generally good American showing by taking fifth for a total of 1:42.83 while Marilyn Cochran was sixth in 1:43.34.

Betsy Clifford of Ottawa gave Canada an honorable eighth place with a total of 1:45.78. She was ninth after the first heat with a clocking of 51.33 seconds.

Britain's Gail Hathorn squeezed into the top 10, taking the 10th spot in 1:46.26.

"I was relaxed and placid; I think that was what got me the victory," Miss Lafforgue told reporters.

Another French girl, Florence Steurer, finished seventh with an aggregate time of 1:43.55.

Ellis Will Get His Frazier Like Braddock Got His Baer

This is the last in a series of three articles by James J. Braddock, former world heavyweight champion, analysing the Joe Frazier-Jimmy Ellis fight for the undisputed heavyweight crown in Madison Square Garden on Monday, Feb. 16.

By JAMES J. BRADDOCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The more I think about it, the more I'm amazed by the fight between Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis in Madison Square Garden next Monday to clear up the heavyweight situation.

It's so much like my own fight for the title with Max Baer in the Long Island Bowl on June 13, 1935. At the end of 1933, I was just another Irish man working on the Hoboken docks taking a fight here and there to make a few bucks. As far as I was concerned, my career as a fighter was over. I never thought about titles or big money. Just making a living and that was tough in those days.

Then, in 1934, I got a break. The Garden put me in against Corn Griffin and I knocked him out in three. Then they gave me John Henry Lewis, who later became a light heavyweight champion, and I beat him in 10. In March of 1935, they fed me to Art Lasky in a 15-rounder to provide a challenger for Baer and I won. I got my Baer. And I'm saying right here that Jimmy Ellis will get his Frazier.

Baer was the powerhouse. Rocky, always popping off, and everybody thought unbeatable. Frazier is undefeated, strong and bullish, and like Baer, showing no respect for an opponent. Like Baer, he appears to be a little too sure of himself.

Baer and Frazier were different in styles, of course, but if ever two fighters were made for each other, Baer was made for me, and Frazier is custom-tailored for Ellis.

Ellis will beat Frazier because he's the better, smarter, more mature fighter. He'll move in and out, keep Frazier off balance with a good left hand and always be ready with that "sneak" right of his that is a deadly punch. He uses it better than I have ever seen and it's on target.

Frazier is the perfect target for Ellis. He's easy to hit, particularly with right hands. He has only one way of fighting and that's to pressure in, punching all the time to the head and body. But Joe Frazier is not a knockout puncher and he'll find a different kind of enemy in Ellis. Ellis knows what he's doing every minute and he'll take charge right away.

Ellis is also a little hungrier than Frazier. He hasn't fought in more than a year but that won't bother him at 30. He hasn't had too many fights and he hasn't taken too much punishment. Ellis is as much a 5-to-1 underdog with Frazier as I was a 10-to-1 underdog with Baer. The prices are ridiculous.

Ellis can win this fight by a knockout or decision. He has the punch to knock anybody out and he can box better than anyone in the heavyweight division today. He's a real pro. At times, Frazier fights like an amateur.

Ellis fought his way to his part of the title by beating the best in a tournament. He deserves to be champion of all the world and I predict he not only can do it but will.

SCORING LEADERS

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Phil Goyette of St. Louis Blues, who held the scoring lead in the early part of the National Hockey League season, picked up a goal and an assist Thursday night to take over fifth spot.

The Blues centreman's two points moved him out of a tie with Dave Balon of New York Rangers, but Goyette, who gave up the scoring lead at the end of November to Bobby Orr, trails the Boston defenceman by 26 points.

Datsun 1600 gives you a powerful good feeling

If you only drive the Datsun 1600 around town, you may never find out what you've got.

Sure, it's a great city car. Compact. Handy. It zips through traffic, parks in impossible slots and squeezes up to 35 miles from a gallon of gas. But that's not all it is. Not by a country mile.

Find yourself a country mile and see. There's a high-performance 1600 cc overhead cam engine lurking under the hood, 96 hp, 100 mph. Let it loose, and feel the way the Datsun snugs down to the road as you go through the box. And feel the way it hangs on as you snake through the bends. Drive it fast and just feel good. Then take a look at the package all this goodness comes in.

Two doors, four doors, or a wagon; 4-on-the-floor or 3-speed automatic transmission. Contoured bucket seats, all independent suspension, collapsible steering column, flow-through ventilation, heater, defroster, headrests, harnesses, the works. No other economy car is as safe, powerful and comfortable as the Datsun 1600.

When you've wrung out the Datsun 1600, take it back to the dealer and have him quote you the price just one more time.

That will give you a pretty good feeling, too.

Test-drive a Datsun at any of the 200 dealers in Canada.

Itching And Burning Afflict Hands, Feet

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why do my hands and feet itch so badly after they get warm in bed? What can I do? I am 52 and in good health otherwise. Rubbing alcohol helps for just an hour or so.—F.H.

Dear Doctor: A burning and drawing sensation exists on the ball of my foot and toes and at times they look inflamed. Again at times they feel quite normal.—A.

Itching can be a form of burning feet (and hands) when they get warm, but there is no single cause. One is old frost bite. Raynaud's disease or other circulatory disorder can cause it. Smoking may be involved. Vitamin or calcium deficiency is still another.

Temporary relief by an alcohol rub suggests that faulty circulation is involved, which can be impaired even though general health appears to be good. What to do about it?

Lack of calcium can be corrected by drinking milk—skim milk, 2 per cent milk, cottage cheese, buttermilk, yogurt, if you have a preference for any of these. They all are rich in calcium. Or calcium can be taken in tablet form.

B-complex vitamins may be lacking; they can be taken in capsule form.

If these measures do not relieve the situation, then your best bet is to have your doctor investigate whether poor circulation is causing your troubles. (If you smoke, stop, because smoking constricts the small blood vessels.)

In other cases, medication to help circulation may be necessary.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a definite explanation for shingles and why they are so painful? The dictionary says "nerves" but that doesn't make sense to me. The pain was in my hip and it looked as though someone had beaten me.—Mrs. P.W.H.

Shingles isn't from "nerves" in the sense of anxiety or nervousness. Rather, it is a virus infection of a nerve trunk—meaning a nerve in the sense of the physiological nerves which carry impulses throughout the body. Shingles is a very real and physical ailment, and quite painful. If the nerve trunk involved supplied the hip or buttock area, this could account for the area affected.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 68 and have been having trouble for the last three months with gas and ache in my stomach every night when I go to bed. It wakes me up and I take some alkaline seltzer. Then I go back to bed and sleep for two or three hours, and wake up with more gas and ache, and I take more seltzer.—R.W.

Your trouble could be from any number of intestinal conditions. Not knowing which, I can't help you, but I strongly urge you to go to a doctor and find out what the trouble is, instead of fiddling about it. A hiatal hernia could be the cause of your distress when in bed.

Note to Mrs. I.A.: Surgery to reduce the size of over-large, pendulous breasts has been an accepted procedure for a good many years, and I see no reason to hesitate if you really need such an operation.

Vacation On Costa Del Sol Cancelled For 1,600 Canadians

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 1,600 Canadians who had planned two-week vacations on Spain's Costa Del Sol this year have been notified that their trips have been cancelled.

Wardair Canada Ltd. of Edmonton, the charter airline that was to take the vacationers to Malaga, Andalusia, and Funseekers International Ltd. of Calgary, the travel organization that arranged the package tour, expect to absorb heavy financial losses from the cancellation.

John Paddon of Vancouver, Wardair branch manager, said a sudden decision by the Spanish government to impose a punitive landing surcharge had forced the cancellation.

He said he understood the surcharge would amount to about 30 per cent of revenues, or $15,000 a flight.

Ten Boeing 707 flights were planned, including six from Western Canada, starting Feb. 23.

Mr. Paddon said Wardair received Spanish government approval of the flights last October, after receiving the approval of the Canadian transport commission.

A few days ago, he said, the Spanish government suddenly withdrew the permission.

He said Wardair officials were convinced the Spanish government had been asked by Iberia Airlines, the Spanish government-owned carrier, to discourage the Canadian flights.

John Haegg, Funseekers district manager, said the passengers, who included 400 or 500 originating at Vancouver, were being refunded their money but Funseekers was not sure of the fate of some thousands of dollars it has tied up in hotel reservations in Spain.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

TEST YOUR PLAY
1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump and North leads the five of clubs. How would you play the hand?

♠ A95

♣ J74

♠ K863

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs, North leads the ace and another spade. How would you play the hand?

♠ 10
♥ 852
♦ K109
♣ A Q1063

♠ K J
♥ A K6
♦ A J543
♣ K J2

1. Win with the ace and cash the ace of diamonds. Regardless of how the cards are divided you are now certain of the contract.

Let's assume that North has either three or four diamonds to the queen, which is the worst that can happen. In that case, you simply force out the queen, bringing you up to eight sure tricks.

Whatever North returns, you are home. If he makes the neutral lead of a spade, you develop trick number nine by winning the spade and returning a club to the queen. The same result accrues if he leads a heart instead of a spade.

It would be wrong to finesse the queen of clubs at trick one. South might have the king and shift to a low heart, in which case the contract would be in jeopardy if he had four or five hearts to the king or queen. The point is that you cannot afford to have South on lead lest he shift to a heart, and you must therefore reject the club finesse. Furthermore, you manage the diamonds so that if you do lose a diamond trick it will be to North, not to South.

2. You can practically assure the contract by discarding a diamond on the king of spades and drawing trumps.

Now cash the king of diamonds. If both opponents follow suit, you have no problem. If not, you have a 4-1 division, for example, four to the ten to the ace and a puff of diamond. Then play a heart to the king and ruff another diamond. This establishes the jack on which you later discard a heart.

If you were to discard a heart on the king of spades, you would be faced with the problem of which way to finesse for the queen of diamonds. You might guess right, but this is not the recommended way of trying to win a distinguished service medal.

The diamond discard at trick two makes the contract fool-proof except in one case—when South has all five diamonds—and this possibility is entirely too remote to be of serious concern.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Try not to scatter your energies on Saturday by starting a half dozen different projects at once. You will accomplish nothing by so doing. Base your program on essentials only and leave some time for relaxation. P.M. influences smile on social activities and romance.

If tomorrow is your birthday you should find the year ahead marked by more than satisfactory progress in the attainment of worthwhile goals. Where occupational interests are concerned, you have been, according to the stars, in a most generous planetary cycle since early January and, if you've taken advantage of all opportunities to advance your interests since then—and you continue to do so—you should net fine rewards for your endeavors by the end of April. Do not let down in effort, then, however, since an even more rewarding cycle is far-promised during the last four months of 1970. Recognition during that period should be exceptionally gratifying.

On the monetary score, there will be two periods during this year when you should find opportunities for expanding your interests and upgrading your status. The first, a lengthy one, will include the weeks between May 1 and Aug. 15 and the second, short but extremely profitable, well encompass the entire conservatively, however, and, on no account, speculate during the first two weeks of September or during November and December.

Domestic concerns should prosper for most of the year ahead, but be on guard against stress in close circles in mid-May and/or mid-October. Anxiety during the latter period could be the result of an unforeseen change in environment but you should not let this dismay you, since such a change could prove highly beneficial in the long run. Most auspicious periods for romance: the weeks between May 1 and Aug. 31 and those between Nov. 15 and Dec. 31.

A child born on this day will be endowed with great imagination and originality; will tend to build "castles in the air," however, will be two periods during this year.

Chamber Clean-Up Week Gets Official Approval

PEACHLAND—April 5 to 11 has been proclaimed Spring Clean-Up Week here and council has promised to use all the muscle in municipal bylaws to ensure unsightly refuse is removed from city streets.

Council was petitioned to declare the clean-up by chamber of commerce delegates Robert Ryujin and Harry St. Claire who attended the regular meeting this week.

Mr. St. Claire said the downtown area of Peachland was "an eyesore and something must be done."

The municipal bylaw dealing with outside storage and refuse in the business area will be enforced, council said.

The municipal garbage truck will be made available for extra duty during the clean-up and if necessary a tow truck will be hired to remove wrecked cars at the owner's expense.

Removal of derelicts at the owner's expense is also provided in municipal bylaws.

In other municipal business councillors:

Agreed to meet with residents of Beach Avenue South to inspect road conditions. Residents, who attended the council meeting, said no improvements have been made on the road in nine years. Ald. George Fletcher said until recently Beach Avenue South was not a recognized road and still is not for its full length.

Approved plans to reopen original access to property on Lipsett Avenue belonging to Mayor Thwaite. Mayor Thwaite vacated the chair during the debate.

Authorized the municipal clerk to sign plans submitted by Arne Oltman to divide his upper Trepanier property into two lots and J. H. Clements to subdivide into nine lots bordering Trepanier Creek.

Appointed Ald. Edwin Best to fill a vacancy on a committee struck recently to inspect all Inland Natural Gas plans submitted. Plans for extension of distribution lines through Marbar Holding's subdivision were improved.

Instructed the clerk to draft a report based on council minutes to be submitted to J. D. Baird, deputy minister of municipal affairs, who wrote in response to a complaint from a subdivider. The subdivider said his plans had been approved in principle by council but his land was denied domestic water.

Heard the Peachland satellite television station would be changed from Channel 5 to Channel 4 when the new network service is brought in this year.

Agreed to observe Brotherhood Week in Peachland this year.
